Absentee vote sputters

With just five days to vote absentee in the Texas Constitutional Revision election, Williamson County Clerk Dick Cervenka says his office has received only 22 absentee ballots.

"People used to be interested in elections," said the clerk. "I don't know why, but it doesn't seem to be that way now."

"This is really more important even than election of your state officials," Cervenka said, reminding the voters that, "This is something we're going to have to live with a long time if it passes."

Regular voting day for the election is Tuesday, November 4. Absentee voting ends October 31.

If all eight proposed amendments to the state Constitution pass, Texas will have a new basic charter.

Registered Williamson County voters who expect to be absent during regular voting November 4 may vote by absentee ballot during business hours in Cervenka's office on the first floor of the county courthouse.

Voters whose religious beliefs forbid their voting on November 4 may also vote by absentee ballot after signing an affidavit to that effect.

Those physically incapable of traveling to the courthouse and those who expect to be absent during absentee voting may vote by mail.

Other balloting done by mail must be completed outside the county.

To ballot by mail, voters must secure an application from a county clerk.

All election materials must then be received, completed, and postmarked outside Williamson County.

Mailed ballots may be received through November 4.

Cervenka noted that the election will be a bilingual one, that is, all election material with which voters come in contact must be printed in Spanish as well as English.

Cervenka also commented, "People should study the proposed new constitution well before coming to the polls to vote. There will be no explanation of the proposal in the voting booth beyond a general description on the ballot."

"A lot of people just don't seem to understand what it's all about," he continued. "I've talked to several people who said they weren't going to vote because they don't understand it.

"We've publicized it in the media and done everything we can to explain it."

Cervenka said turnout during absentee voting is usually an indication of what turnout will be on election day.

Residents can examine Community Development at Thursday hearing

Georgetown residents will have the opportunity to scrutinize the city's suggestions for use of Community Development money or to offer their own ideas for projects when the Citizens Advisory Commission holds its second public hearing on the subject Thursday.

The 23-member Commission will meet at 7 p.m. in the Council Room at City Hall. Mayor Joe Crawford has urged members of the City Council, the Planning and Zoning Commission, residents of proposed project areas, and the general public to attend.

Georgetown was awarded $228,000 in Community Development funds last year by the federal Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD). The money is being used to construct a raw water intake structure at the site of the future North Fork Lake.

The city also hopes to receive another $228,000 this year for use in 1976, the same amount in 1977, plus $152,000 in 1978 and $76,000 in 1979.

City Building Inspector Tom Sams, coordinator of Community Development application activities, said part of the Thursday hearing will be devoted to tentative establishment of long-range goals and short-range objectives for the city.

HUD requires that a city establish such goals, incorporate them into a program of projected activities, and relate proposed Community Development projects to the goals in order to receive funds.

The city has retained the services of urban planning consultant Sam Wyse to help with the development of a goals program.

Wyse, of Wyse and Associates in Dallas, last year examined Georgetown's probable growth and needs to the year 2000 in an Interim Report. He is currently at work on a Comprehensive Plan for the city.

At the Thursday hearing, Wyse will present a list of the kinds of goals a city might establish as a guide for use of Community Development money.

Also Thursday, the Advisory Commission will hear more detailed explanations of the projects the city administration has nominated for Community Development funding this year.

At a previous hearing July 29, the city nominated six activities for consideration by the Commission.

Final decision on selection and priority of projects lies with the City Council, which is scheduled to adopt a Community Development program for 1976 at a public hearing January 12.

HUD requires, however, that the city seek citizen input to Community Development planning, and in Georgetown the Citizen's Advisory Commission has been designated as the channel for that input.

Through the Commission, citizens likely to be affected by Community Development and housing activities, especially low and moderate-income residents, can express their needs, their preferences about proposed activities, and their complaints.

They may also nominate projects for consideration and offer their advice on determination of priorities among projects.

The city is required by HUD to hold at least two public hearings on Community Development before adopting a program for HUD's scrutiny, and more if necessary.

Sams said the city is particularly anxious to gather input from residents in the Ash Street, San Jose Street, and West Fourteenth Street areas.

Those areas were targeted by the city at the July hearing for possible Community Development storm drainage projects.

The three drainage projects together would cost $176,549.

Also nominated were construction of a new Neighborhood Center at a cost of approximately $25,000 and acquisition of two tracts of real estate at a total cost of about $85,000.

The City Council has not yet resolved that it

Closed Monday

The Post Office will be closed Monday, October 27, in observance of Veterans' Day, although other businesses chose to remain open and observe Veterans' Day on the traditional date, November 11.

There will be a 2 p. m. holiday pickup of mail from the box outside the Post Office. Mail will be placed in the post office boxes, but there will be no counter service or rural or city deliveries.

The two banks, First National Bank and Citizens State Bank, and Georgetown Savings and Loan will be open.

Offices in the Williamson County Courthouse will be open for business as usual.

It's time to turn your clocks back

The state and most of the nation will be going off Daylight Savings Time and back on Standard Time this weekend.

Clocks should be moved back an hour to make the conversion. The official change-over time is early Sunday morning but most find it easier to make the one hour time change at bedtime Saturday night.

Texas will remain on Central Standard Time until April. At that time, clocks will be moved forward an hour to return to Daylight Savings Time.

Remember the adage made up a few years ago to help in the time change, "spring forward, fall back," and turn back your clock Saturday night.

SU receives endowment valued at $1.3 million

The late Mrs. Virginia Lazenby O'Hara of Dallas included Southwestern University at Georgetown in her will with a gift in Dr. Pepper Company stock valued at $1.3 million, Dr. Durwood Fleming, University President, announced to the Board of Trustees Friday.

Southwestern's trustees have designated that the gift be placed in the endowment for the University, President Fleming said.

Mrs. O'Hara's gift raises the book value of the endowment of the school to the $18 million level. This ranks Southwestern University fourth in endowment among the 81 Methodist senior colleges in the United States.

"An ample and growing endowment is the secret of perpetuity and growth of the private and independent colleges and universities in our Republic," President Fleming said.

Now there is $19,000 in endowed funds per student, he said.

Mrs. O'Hara, widow of former Dr. Pepper Board Chairman John B. O'Hara, was the daughter of Robert Sherman Lazenby, who developed the formula for Dr. Pepper Company in Waco in 1884.

Mr. Lazenby was a close friend of the late Dr. Robert Stewart Hyer, fourth president of Southwestern. Mrs. O'Hara remembered visiting the Southwestern campus in Georgetown as a child and watching her father give financial assistance to the state's oldest university.

Mrs. O'Hara continued her interest in Southwestern University by endowing the first professorship in the recently successful $10 Million Program for Progress for the University. Her gift of $100,000 in 1972 endowed the Robert Sherman Lazenby Professorship in Physics.

"Through Mrs. O'Hara's munificent gift she set another example of enlightened philanthropy. She enriched our University and established a lasting memorial," President Fleming said.

You have to be as careful in talking about commercial prospects as Richard was about his tapes, but I can say that several firms with potential substantive payrolls are interested in locating here.

GEORGETOWN ISN'T the only town in their picture, of course, and there's no assurance that any of them will decide to come. On the other hand, when you have lookers you stand a chance of comers!

Our community moves into another era of merchandising this week with the opening of the giant Gibson store, to be managed here by Dwight Hood. Gibson's, as most of us already know, is one of the most aggressive and progressive merchandising giants operating in the state. The firm, by opening a large store (mammoth by our standards) in Georgetown, is indicating a firm belief in the area's future market potentials.

THE SUN IS PLEASED to welcome this firm to our community. I believe it will be an asset to our entire merchandising effort.

Brothers David and Don Hewlett, quarterback and center respectively of the Eagles, have an agreement among themselves. "Open a hole and let me sneak in for a TD and you get 3 of the points," David propositioned big brother. "That's the deal," big brother responded. So, if you kept statistics on the Lampasas game, split that third touchdown right down the middle between the brothers, which sure seems fair to me!

Here's a little something I picked up: People of all sizes agree that the greatest word of all has three letters: God. Moreover, the greatest sentence has only three words: God is love. (1 John 4:9).

WHEN GALILEO FIRST revealed his vast astronomical universe, some complained that he had destroyed their faith in the God who cared for ordinary earthly mortals.

"The sun, with all those planets moving around it," responded the astronomer, "can ripen the smallest bunch of grapes as if it had nothing else to do. Why then should I doubt His power?"

Why indeed?

Gibson opening to be held Monday

The Gibson's Discount Center in Georgetown will hold its grand opening Monday.

Ribbon cutting ceremonies are scheduled for 8:45 a.m. at the store in the Lakeaire Shopping Center. A representative of the Governor's office will perform the honors following the comments of Paul Gibson, of the chain's headquarters in Dallas.

Herbert R. Gibson, Sr., founder of the stores, will also be present for the ceremonies. The chain he started with a single store in Abilene in 1958 now consists of 730 stores in 36 states, Guam and Tokyo.

The events of the day will start with a breakfast for other store managers and employees of the chain. Over 20 city and college officials and business representatives have been invited.

Dwight Hood is manager of the store which features discount prices. He will be joined in operating the store by Phis Harris.

David Ottinger, a pharmacist from Round Rock, heads the pharmacy.

Commissioners to discuss county ambulance service

Two items relating to the county's troubled ambulance service will be on the agenda of a special meeting of the Williamson County Commissioners' Court scheduled for Tuesday.

The court will discuss several topics concerning the ambulance service that has operated at a a deficit of over $131,000 as of August 31.

Commissioners have said the county wouldn't be able to operate in such a deficit in the future and raised the possibility that the court may discontinue operation of one of the five locations.

They have said another solution may involve county operation of the service rather than contracting it to cities as it is now operated.

The court will also consider amending their motion awarding of bids on ambulance equipment. In a meeting last Friday, commissioners decided to accept the lowest bids on equipment but have since decided that the lowest price doesn't always bring the best equipment.

Salary adjustments in Precinct Number Three and the hiring of a secretary for Commissioner Wesley Johnson will also be discussed at the meeting.

Other items on the agenda include: recognizing Justices of the Peace completing required JP training, a Civil Defense resolution, an appearance by Trey Palmer concerning safety stripping of roads and modifications of the Title VI grant.

The meeting will be held on the first floor of the Williamson County Courthouse at 10 a. m.

Week's news in a nutshell

GEORGETOWN SCHOOL TRUSTEES were quizzed Monday night by a high school student, Don Spellman, regarding the reasoning supporting the hair code as defined under the dress code in the high school handbook.

Due to the opinion issued by Attorney General John Hill regarding free public schools the board voted to teach all driver education courses next summer on a trial basis after those students who have paid for the course for this year have completed classes.

LEANDER TRUSTEES LOOKED at three alternative methods of structuring bond proposals and tentatively considered asking for $4.6 million, though they didn't make that a firm proposition.

That amount is just under a million dollars less than a previous $5.6 million proposal that was scrapped in the wake of strong opposition over higher school taxes.

NO OPPOSITION was voiced to the proposed extension of Georgetown's Scenic Drive at a public hearing Monday afternoon when Georgetown city officials and hospital administrators, as well as representatives of the Lower Colorado River Authority gave their blessing to the project.

Paul Harvey

THE AMERICAN LIGHTHOUSE

One good example is better than a thousand admonitions.

In family affairs — and in foreign affairs.

THE UNITED STATES will remain a world leader only if we are an example worthy of emulation.

the Senate Foreign Relations Committee today and for the next 10 months is conscientiously seeking a foreign policy formula for our nation in the 1980s.

What is best for us? "Containment of communism," negative diplomacy, ended in Vietnam.

"Detente," our present foreign policy, relies precariously on the personalities of temporary world leaders.

"Fortress America," as a policy, can never amount to anything more secure than an armed standoff.

MAY I RESPECTFULLY SUGGEST that we consider a "lighthouse concept." It's not untried. Indeed, for the first 150 years of our nation's existence it worked very well.

Watching our example of individual liberty and self-government, the French threw off the yoke of their dissolute kings and rapacious aristocracy; England initiated sweeping democratic reforms; Mexico, Central America and South America freed themselves from Spain.

IN OTHER WORDS, from about 1789 until the early 1900s every other enlightened nation on planet earth was going our way.

We hadn't sent them any guns, any butter or any money. But what we had done was to mind our own business so well that we were a lighthouse for the world.

Conscientious pollster George Gallup says, "The American public today is principally concerned with the domestic (the homefront) problems facing our nation — to a greater extent than any time since the Thirties."

Pollster Burns Roper says the American public "is now almost oblivious to foreign problems; instead it is intensely preoccupied with things domestic."

Selectively, I have quoted those pollsters who agree with what I am hearing first-hand during ceaseless stateside travels.

Homegrown Americans have seen our $179 billion in foreign aid (since World War II) buy more envy than friendship.

They've watched our comparatively neglected homefront's deterioration to the point of regurgitation.

NOW THEY FIGURE it's time for Uncle Sam to take care of himself, behave himself, discipline himself, improve himself, get growing again.

The lighthousekeeper's first obligation is not to throw rocks at the fog but to keep his light lit.

Yes, girls can play football just as well as boys

By the Associated Press

Phoenix, Arizona

Buzz Estrada was surrounded by young football players clamoring for his attention, anxious to get on the field and play.

"Hey coach!" one of them yelled out, "can our team be the one that throws the ball this time?"

"Coach!" cried another as Mr. Estrada attemped to hand out the colored cloths that would distinguish the two teams. "Give me one, I'm the hiker."

Mr. Estrada is the coach of the fourth, fifth, and sixth grade girls physical education classes at T. G. Barr Elementary School.

"They like football," he said. "When I started with this, one girl told me her mother didn't want her to play football because it isn't feminine. Now she's one of our quarterbacks and enjoys it."

Mr. Estrada got the coaching post when a female teacher left the job. His own sixth-grade teaching position was eliminated through a reduction in teaching staff because of declining enrollments in the school district.

"You've heard of Title IX requirements that girls have equal money for sports," he said, referring to new U.S. Department of Health, Education, and Welfare guidelines on sex discrimination. "Well, why shouldn't a man be able to coach girls' P.E.?"

Mr. Estrada said he believes girls have as much ability as boys for playing football. "It's just that a boy does it regularly and a girl doesn't. It's just going to take some working with them."

Some objections to the girls' football aspirations are being voiced — not by parents, but by male classmates.

"The boys are kind of getting upset because the girls are taking away some of the field. They think we're infringing on their benefits," he said.

But 11-year-old Arlene Parker, a sixth grader, retorts: "Girls can play, too. One of these days I hope we can play the boys so we can beat them."

Another sixth-grader, Lisa Steinhoff wants to learn all about the game. "Girls actually go to football games all the time and don't know what's happening," she said.

So Mr. Estrada started from the beginning: "This is a football, it's 12 inches long."

The girls have learned quite a bit so far, and they like the game so well they are pushing for Mr. Estrada to teach them basketball next.

Dear Mr. Scarbrough,

We enjoy receiving the Sun. It keeps us informed about what's going on in Georgetown. We especially enjoyed and appreciated your informative editorial concerning the proposed constitution. We thought we would receive our copy of the constitution but apparently the post office did not forward the copies sent out by state officials. Although we won't be able to vote in the election, we will always be Texans and have an interest in the state.

West Virginia is a beautiful state, especially at this time of year. Monongahela National Forest begins just a few miles outside Elkins' city limits. Leaves range in color from reds and purples to bright orange and yellow. Of course, if you vacationed in New England, you know what I'm talking about. The only added beauty in this state is the mountains and rolling hills. The mountains make travel a real handicap (especially since we're used to Texas highways), but they really are beautiful.

Jobs don't look too promising here, but the editor of the daily newspaper wants me to write some feature stories and more or less do free-lancing and help out during vacations or when reporters are ill. The editor

The lobbyists know

As voting day on the new constitution draws nearer we have become convinced that the only people who understand its full implications must be the lobbyists.

CERTAINLY, THE POLITICIANS — all vowing to serve the public — are seeing it differently and so are the newspapers, TV commentators, lawyers, bankers, et al.

For example, the conservative Dallas Morning News has come out strongly for the whole package. On the other hand, liberal groups, including faculty and students of state universities, are also buying. It's not every day that you see the college faculties in bed with the Dallas Morning News!

Governor Briscoe is popular with the farmers and he's against it. Senator Patman is a farmer and feels a strong affinity toward the whole agricultural establishment and he's for it. Most weekly newspapers throughout the state, we figure, are conservative and they join in opposing the composition.

SO, WE HAVE A DEEPLY DIVISIVE ISSUE and the bells will keep tolling after November 4, whichever way the vote goes. We'll have recriminations aplenty. Some of our political figures will die, some may be enhanced by the outcome. We just hope the public gains.

Apparently there is a ground-swell of interest among voters and a 25 percent turnout prediction, made two weeks ago, will have to be revised upward. Texans are beginning to realize that their lives will be affected and altered by this thing they are being confronted with November 4. We should realize this every time we have the opportunity to cast our vote at the polls, for issues great and small.

Why does the farmer farm?

One wonders why the farmer stays in business, for his life-style definitely is a business. American farmers have always been better at farming than any of their counterparts because of the assurance that they will earn a living from their profession. A farmer cannot be forced to farm, with or without a profit.

The farmer cannot feed the world until his problems are alleviated, and the problems of the world will not be solved on an empty stomach. This vicious cycle must be solved, but only with sincere efforts of every person, no matter to what extent he may or may not suffer from the problems of feeding the world. —John Tower

Austin Notebook

AUSTIN — From all sides comes advice as to how to vote in the Nov. 4 constitutional amendment election.

And almost invariably, the advice to vote "for" or "agin" the eight proposals on the ballot are accompanied by dire warnings that the people of Texas will be ruined if they vote "for" or "agin", depending on the view, of course, of the "warner."

Having the newspapers filled with these Chicken Little warnings that the sky is falling down can lead only to confusion, which generally leads voters to declare a plague on both houses and to simply decline to vote.

But the bare-boned truth is that Texas and Texans will survive with or without the new constitution.

It really makes very little change in the form of state government, retaining what Gov. Dolph Briscoe considers important — government run on a public service basis by unpaid policymakers who are seldom able to devote enough time to study to know what they are doing.

The result of having policy-making in the hands of part-time citizen boards is as it must be — the real operation of government is carried on by the professional bureaucrats who sift to the top of the heap and become the executive directors or commissioners. In 99 cases out of 100, the policy-making board accepts the recommendation of the commissioner or executive director after a fairly brief explanation.

Briscoe's statement of opposition to this was that this 100-year-old system is threatened by efforts by the constitution writers to give the biggest of the policy-making boards enough pay and enough time on the job to understand what the problem is and to reach conclusions as to the best solution. That board is, of course, the Legislature, which would be given 230 days each two years instead of 140 days in which to make the policy decisions on which state government operates.

Briscoe, at $65,000 a year and supposedly a 40-hour week, is not in the category of policy-making official, except as he might use his personal influence to get legislators to accept his suggestions from among the bales of suggestions they must accept or reject during 140 days every two years.

In the field of local government, the new constitution would take away from the Legislature and give directly to the people the right promised in the Texas Bill of Rights which would not be changed by the new constitutional amendments. That right of the people is to "alter, reform or abolish their government in such manner as they may think expedient."

This proposal in Proposition 6 on the ballot is what has stirred up the courthouse beehives. It would allow the voters of a country to create, combine or eliminate county offices and to give their county commissioners courts ordinance-making powers, to regulate things as city councils already do inside the cities. Not only has Proposition 6 aroused the county officials who don't want to be combined or eliminated, but it has also stirred those who develop subdivisions in rural areas with little limit from any element of government.

Careful voters may want to pick and choose between the eight propositions. Others will want to vote "for" or "agin" the whole eight. They have the Briscoe advice to vote "agin" them all. They have the advice of former Chief Justice Robert W. Calvert and other real students of the constitution to vote for all eight.

Taken as a whole, the new constitution would be better for Texas than the old one, so if you don't want to worry about the details, Judge Robert Calvert's advice is more soundly-based than Gov. Briscoe's.

If you want to hunt around through the many changes, you may find one or two propositions where your personal views and interests will convince you to vote "agin" that one.

But however you vote, and however Texans as a whole vote, it won't make a whole lot of difference in the immediate future in the operation of state government. It will still be a horse and buggy state government, with a helpless chief executive and a bureaucracy with little responsibility to the people it is supposed to serve.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Corruption of the CIA

WASHINGTON — Legislators investigating the CIA have admitted privately to us what they refuse to say in public — that past Presidents were fully aware of past CIA abuses and may actually have ordered some of them.

Few of the Senators and Congressmen involved in the investigations want to blame former Chief Executives for the CIA's faults. And the sworn testimony itself is vague. Indeed, there appears to have been a conspiracy to provide Presidents with "credible deniability."

It is clear to those who are looking into the matter, however, that the CIA did not operate without Presidential direction.

The agency, in short, was not out of control. To be sure, some details of their complicated schemes were never discussed with the President. But the general plots and dirty tricks appear to have emanated, for the most part, from the White House.

The abuses grew out of the Cold War, when the decision was made that the CIA should emulate the Russian KGB by intervening in the domestic affairs of foreign governments and assassinating unfriendly world leaders.

The late CIA Director Allen Dulles, say our sources, would visit the White House to brief the President. He would lean back, assume an air of mystery, and explain in an enigmatic way what the CIA was up to. The President would frequently give Dulles general instructions.

The meaning of these roundabout discussions was quite clear, but they left the President in a position to deny any direct knowledge of the CIA's activities.

This loose relationship between the White House and the CIA, say witnesses, continued through the Eisenhower and Kennedy Administrations. But the President who pushed the CIA to go far beyond its mandate, say our sources, was Lyndon B. Johnson.

Johnson was convinced that the anti-war protesters who besieged him were stirred up by enemy agents and agitators. The people, he believed, would never turn against him of their own accord.

He instructed the CIA to find the evidence that would support his thesis. Thus began the compilation of dossiers and the massive spying on American citizens. For all their effort, however, the CIA was never able to show that the anti-war movement was supported by enemy agents.

Richard Nixon went a step further: He enlisted the CIA's help in his own domestic political problems.

In June, 1973, he ordered his majordomo, H.R. "Bob" Haldeman, to use the CIA's clandestine activities as an excuse to thwart the FBI's investigation of the Watergate scandal.

Haldeman called CIA Director Richard Helms and Deputy Director Lt. Gen. Vernon Walters to the White House and instructed them to tell acting FBI chief L. Patrick Gray that the bureau's investigation of campaign funds "laundered" in Mexico threatened to expose the CIA's secret operations there.

Walters passed the message to Gray that very day. The corruption of the CIA, guided and encouraged by four Presidents, was complete.

Tax Avoiders: Some American-based companies pay more taxes to foreign powers than they do to Uncle Sam.

That's just one of the startling findings of a new corporate tax study done by Congressman Charles Vanik, D-Ohio. He found that 142 American-based multinational companies paid a total of $14.4 billion to foreign governments during 1974. Yet they only forked over $10.3 billion to the U.S Treasury during the same period.

Eight giant corporations escaped American taxes entirely. And 18 firms paid under ten per cent of their income in taxes, which is far less than what the average wage earner must pay.

The average corporate tax bill came to 22 per cent of income -- less than half of the 48 per cent that corporations are supposed to pay.

All of this tax-avoiding was legal, of course. The tax loopholes written into the law allow the big corporations to escape without paying their fair share.

Diplomatic Pipeline: Secretary of State Henry Kissinger, say our sources, has reluctantly decided not to ask for a resumption of military aid to Chile. Such assistance was cut off by Congress last December. He wanted to make the request, but dropped the idea when he heard that Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., would vehemently oppose it.

— Kissinger, meanwhile, is curious over some recent remarks of former Defense Secretary Melvin Laird. The irrepressible Laird toured the Far East a few weeks ago and assured a Taiwan audience that America's relations with the Republic of China are as strong as ever. This is precisely the message that Kissinger, enamoured with Red China, did not want delivered. Then Laird stopped in Tokyo and asserted to a group of newsmen that it's about time Congress assumed a stronger role in foreign policy.

— There was apparently a frightening moment aboard the Kissinger plane during one of his recent shuttle flights between Tel Aviv and Cairo. The smell of something burning wafted through his aircraft. After a hasty search, the culprit was finally located. It seems someone was running documents through a copying machine aboard the plane when one of the papers got stuck and began to smolder.

Budget Fuss: Some White House budget experts are grumbling because their superiors have refused to allow the powerful Renegotiation Board more staff members The board reviews more than $40 billion each year in government contracts. With a few more staffers, they say, they could save the government millions. But the Budget Office has steadfastly refused to put any more auditors on the payroll.

County crops make top ten

Williamson County made an important contribution to Texas agriculture in 1974 by placing in the top ten counties in the production of sorghum hay and fodder.

According to field crop statistics recently compiled, county farmers produced 17,700 tons on 7,900 acres.

Hill County led the state in production with 37,100 tons. Total production for the state stood at 756,000 tons.

Complete figures on Texas field crops have been compiled in the "1974 Texas Field Crop Statistics." Copies may be obtained by writing the Texas Department of Agriculture, P. O. Box 12847, Austin, Texas 78711.

Reception for Dan Kubiak set November 11

Plans for the Nov. 11 appreciation reception honoring State Rep. Dan Kubiak are moving ahead, with former House Speaker Price Daniel Jr. being named honorary chairman for the event, organizers said Tuesday.

"We feel extremely fortunate to have the former speaker's assistance in this endeavor," said James Bartosh, one of the reception organizers. "He and Dan worked closely together when Dan was chairman of the House Education Committee, and Mr. Daniel continues to be one of Texas' outstanding young public figures."

Bartosh said other dignitaries, including present House Speaker Bill Clayton, were also being invited to the reception.

The reception will feature entertainment by Hutto organist Helmer Dahl, and refreshments will be served, Bartosh said. The reception will be held in the Taylor Knights of Columbus Hall at 7 p.m. Nov. 11. Tickets and other information are available by calling 512-446-2839 or 446-2887 in Rockdale.

"SOMETIMES THEY JUST WANT TO BE HELD" — Toni Gonzales finds that a little loving is all Jeff Goree and Patti Lindsey need.

JUST LYING AROUND — Paul Connor, Heather Stevens, and Odie Vanacek discover that people their own age are fun to be around.

CLEANING UP, BUT ALSO LEARNING — Harriet Rea instructs Margaret Loucher, Will Luedecke, and Mary Alice Eld that putting up puzzles is not all work.

First Methodist's Thursday School

For a day away from Mom

Originally conceived as a mother's day out, the Thursday School at First United Methodist Church has proved to be much more.

The idea for the school was formulated last Spring under the direction and study of Nancy Raper. The church had decided to work toward a day out for mothers with pre-school-age children, so Mrs. Raper began traveling around the state in search of information for this type of school.

But she came back with the idea of a school for the children rather than a day of babysitting for the mothers. "We are trying to teach what is applicable to each age group," said Mrs. Raper. Four year olds are learning numbers, and according to Mrs. Raper, it is surprising what the children have already learned.

Tom Graves, minister of First United Methodist, maintains that Nancy has remarkable insight to what each of the children needs. "She has persuaded several parents to allow their children to go, and it's been wonderful for them. They have really opened up."

The one-day-a-week school handles up to 35 children from toddlers to four year olds. And according to Mrs. Raper, there are three spaces left in the four year old class, two in the three year old class and a waiting list for the other ages.

Planned along the public school year, the Thursday School will meet until May 20.

Teachers for the school include Toni Gonzales, toddler teacher; Margaret Persky and Harriet Rea, two year old teachers; Lynda Peters, three year old teacher; Jervis Davis, four year old teacher; Oline Behrens, floater; Joyce West, music teacher; and Nancy Raper, director.

And to top it off, the $3 per session fee really is cheaper than a babysitter.

"WE BRING OUR LUNCHES" — Lunch at Thursday School is a special delight. "We bring our lunches just like the big kids" said one five year old. Here Wesley West, Scott Murah, Sharon Yeary, and Melissa McCoy discover just what mother packed.

SHARING — Nancy Raper, head of Thursday School shows Jimmy Horner that sharing his tricycle with Odie Vanacek is part of life.

HELPING HANDS HELP LEARN Linda Peters helps Steve Eidt paste feet on his own creation. Thursday School was originally designed for a mothers day out, but experienced teachers have helped make the program both educational and fun for the children.

Brownie Troop camps in Vasquez backyard

Brownie Troop 266 spent their first night of camping in the backyard camp at the home of Mrs. Danny Vasquez Friday night, Oct. 17.

Tents were set up and cooking was done in an open fireplace using wood as fuel. Even a porta-potty was set up and for all practical purposes the troop was in a "wilderness" setting.

After a supper of sloppy joes and peach cobbler cooked on the fire by the girls, ghost stories were told. Highlighting the night was a walk down the road and through a dry ravine with the aid of flashlights.

Even though the night was chilly, the girls managed to stay warm inside their tents with wall-to-wall sleeping bags and arm-to-arm buddies.

A breakfast of bacon, pancakes and orange juice was prepared at dawn. The girls were up early to wach the sun rise.

Those taking part in the campout were Ranea Hyatt, Molly Burnette, Cheryl Dedeck, Julie Burson, Vivian Vasquez, Tracy Raby, Emily Ramos, Amanda Maldrona, Margo Andrews, Kim Ischy, Kim Abbey, Rachel Bracamontez, Lisa Bruce and Patricia Rothhammer.

Jan Vickers was present for supper and the games, but could not spend the night because of a cold.

Mrs. Judy Dedeck helped with the activities of the night along with the regular troop leaders, Mrs. Danny Vasquez and Mrs. Charles Burson.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bracamontez, Dan Vasquez and Danny Vasquez Jr. helped with the setting up of tents.

The troop is planning another campout farther from home, possibly at Camp Texlake Girl Scout Camp in the spring.

Leander PTA carnival scheduled November 1

Many of the "extra necessities" for the Leander Schools over the past years have been provided with funds from the PTA. In the past, money earned by the PTA volunteers has purchased the concession stand, press box, sidewalks, water fountains, window blinds, library books and art supplies.

In the past few years, funds have gone for a record player, two typewriters, one academic and one vocational scholarship. Most recently the money earned by the Leander Elementary PTA has bought teaching aids, resource kits, flags, cassettes, and clocks for the classrooms.

The main money-raising project has become a well-known annual event in the Leander School District. This year over 100 volunteers are working in various capacities to make this Halloween Carnival a very successful project.

Mrs. Margaret Gilmore, PTA Carnival chairman, is in charge of the arrangements. There is a great deal of work and cooperation involved and youngsters become increasingly excited as time for the Carnival nears.

The Leander Elementary PTA Halloween Carnival is Saturday, November 1, from 5 p.m. to 9 p.m. in the courtyard of the Leander Elementary School, and plans are for a new and different event. Many businesses have been generous with donations of merchandise and food.

The Spaghetti Supper will be served from 5 to 7 p.m. and all utensils and almost all the food has been donated. The seventh graders are handling advance ticket sales; prices are $1.50 for adults and $1.25 for children through age 12.

The seventh grade students are competing to sell as many tickets as possible because the student who sells the most tickets will win a portable electronic calculator. The winner will be announced during the carnival.

Also to be given away during the Carnival will be handmade doll furniture, electric drill, oriental rug, handmade afghan, electric clock, and various other prizes, all of which have been donated.

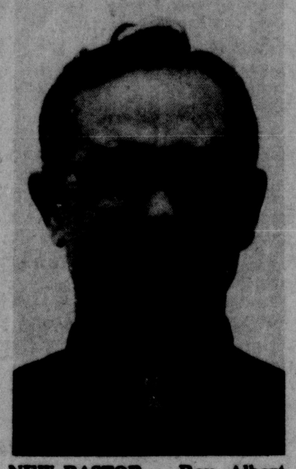
Local Catholic Church gets new pastor

A Wisconsin native who decided in 1972 to come to Texas to see how Texas Catholics were has been appointed pastor of St. Helen's Catholic Church.

Rev. Albert Palermo, a native of Racine, Wis., assumed his new duties in Georgetown last week after serving with a church at Rockne in Bastrop County for over two years.

Father Palermo, a Green Bay Packer fan, is a graduate of the University of Wisconsin who worked as a chemical engineer in Chicago before deciding to enter the ministry. He attended St. Francis Seminary in Milwaukee and was ordained in 1963.

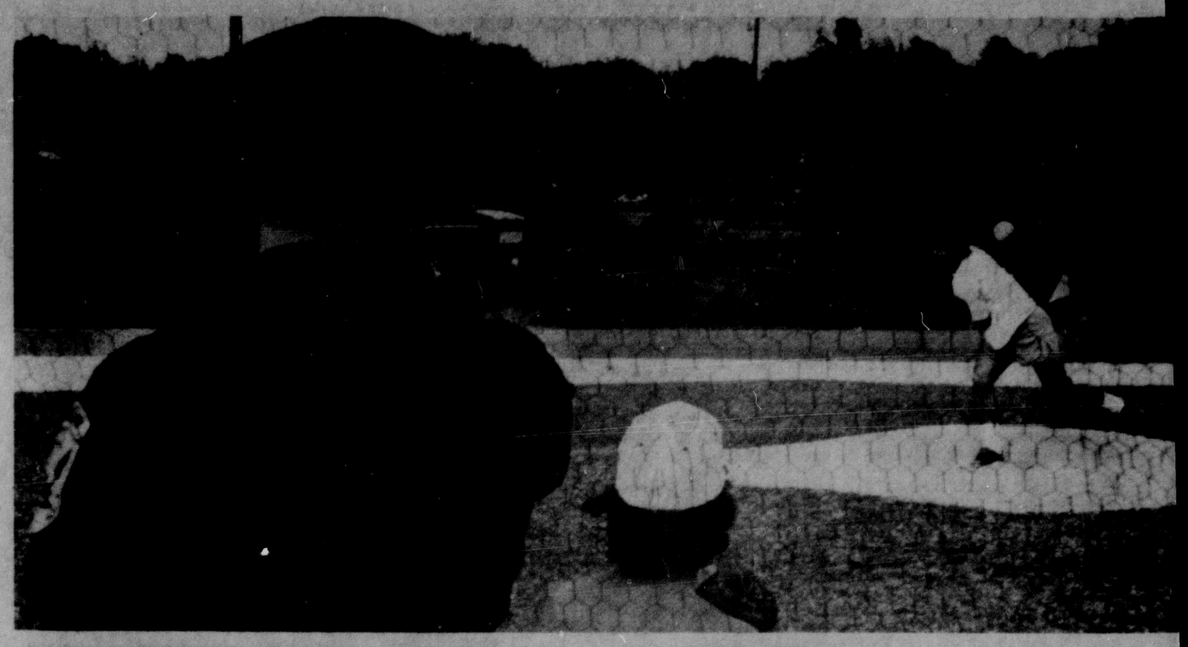
Before entering the seminary, Father Palermo was sent to Austin on a research project for a year and became interested in Texas. After serving as a priest in the Diocese of Milwaukee for 10 years he was able to transfer to the Lone Star State.



NEW PASTOR — Rev. Albert Palermo has assumed duties as pastor of St. Helen's Catholic Church in Georgetown.

His first stop was in Taylor at St. Mary's for two months. He then transferred to St. Mary's in Temple for a year before moving to tiny Rockne, named after the Notre Dame football coach, Knute Rockne.

The 4-H officers were installed October 20 at the regular 4-H meeting. Each project group met briefly. The meeting ended with the members playing name games. The 4-Hers said thanks for bringing the papers to the 4-H paper drive.



LOOKING FOR SPEEDERS — City police Sergeant Robert Hernandez uses his radar gun on the fast ball of Steve Wendtland, one of the new pitchers for the Southwestern University Pirates baseball team. Sgt. Hernandez found a number of speeders with clockings of 75-85 miles per hour not uncommon, but the only kind of tickets he'll be writing will be those to see the Bucs play nex spring. "This has been a great help to us in knowing just what ou pitchers can do," said Coach Jim Mallon, "and the good help from our police department is just an example of the cooperative spirit that exists here in Georgetown."

FLORENCE NEWS

BY MRS. J. E. CASKEY

Mrs. M. L. Williams of Georgetown spent Sunday with Dr.and Mrs. A. W. Barr.

Mrs. R. V. Ray has been a patient in Hillandale Hospital in Killeen for the past ten days as the result of a fall.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Haster and sons were in Huntsville Sunday to attend the rodeo and to visit their daughter who attends school there.

Mr. and Mrs. S. F. Howell and Mrs. B. C. Womack of Georgetown attended services at the Methodist Church Sunday morning and stayed for the covered dish luncheon.

Mr. and Mrs. Ronnie Grimm and Rusty of Georgetown spent Sunday in the Ed Rose home.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Baker and Mrs. Wanda Reilly have returned from a trip through Oklahoma, Arkansas and Missouri. While in Missouri, they attended the play "Shepherd of The Hills" and in Eureka Springs, Arkansas attended the great Passion Play. They report very dry weather conditions there also.

Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Young were in Temple Wednesday where Mrs. Young entered Scott and White Hospital for surgery.

Mrs. R. M. Smart was in Georgetown to visit her mother, Mrs. B. W. Ponder at Sweetbriar Nursing Home.

West End Home Demonstration Club met October 13 at the home of Mrs. Ben Jacob of Andice. Fourteen members and three visitors attended. Mrs. Oran Davis gave a report of her meeting of clubs at Abilene, reporting on safety, citizenship and recreation.

The program was about German cooking and ways of using different food. Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bethke gave an interesting discussion on places they visited in Germany, the foods enjoyed and places, churches and pleasures of their trip.

The club also discussed the trip planned for early November and a booth at Andice Arts and Crafts in December.

Mrs. Jim Baker, reporter

Slover lectures set for SU

DR. STANLEY M. HAUERWAS

Southwestern University will present Dr. Stanley M. Hauerwas as Slover Lecturer at the Faculty Lounge in the Student Union on Wednesday and Thursday.

Dr. Hauerwas will deliver two Slover lectures on the topic, "A Tale of Two Stories: On Being a Christian and a Texan."

At 7:30 p.m. Wednesday Dr. Hauerwas will speak on "Stories and Theology." Thursday he will address the subject "Stories and the Moral Life" at 6:30 p.m.

On Friday the Southwestern Alumni Association will award Dr. Hauerwas its Citation of Merit.

Dr. Hauerwas is Associate Professor of Theology at the University of Notre Dame.

He is also an alumnus of Southwestern University in the class of 1972.

He holds the B.D. cum laude from Yale Divinity School and the M.A., M. Phil., and Ph.D. in the field of Christian ethics from the Yale Graduate School. During his graduate work at Yale he was the recipient of the Tew Prize and the Hooker Prize, the latter being awarded to the top three graduates.

He was awarded a Yale Divinity Fellowship and a Rockefeller Doctoral Fellowship.

Prior to his appointment to the faculty of the University of Notre Dame in 1970, he taught at Augustana College in Rock Island, Illinois.

In 1973 he was a senior research fellow at the Kennedy Center for Bioethics at Georgetown University; since 1973 he has been the Director of Graduate Studies at the University of Notre Dame.

Dr. Hauerwas is an ethicist who has published numerous articles and books in a wide area of interest including studies of the problems of abortion, euthanasia, the retarded, population, pollution, and morality.

He is a member of the American Society of Christian Ethics, the Academy of Religions, and the Society for Religion in Higher Education.

He serves on the Editorial Board for the American Society of Christian Ethics, is Associate Editor of the Encyclopedia of Bioethics, and is Chairman of the Ethics Section of the American Society of Religion.

Dr. Hauerwas is married to the former Elizabeth Anne Harley, an alumna of Southwestern University, also in the class of 1962. They are the parents of one son, Adam.

The Citation of Merit award is given to graduates who have distinguished themselves in their chosen field of work.

The Slover Lectures are made possible by a gift from the late Reverend George S. Slover.

Major Dunlop earns medal for meritorious service

Outstanding duty performance at Andersen AFB, Guam, has earned the Meritorious Service Medal for Major Darrell R. Dunlop, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. I. Dunlop of Andice.

Major Dunlop was cited for his professional skill, knowledge and leadership as chief of the emergency war order branch of the 43rd Strategic Wing.

He was honored in ceremonies at Beale AFB, Calif., where he now serves as a KC-135 Stratotanker pilot with a unit of the Strategic Air Command.

The major is aeronautically rated as a command pilot and is a veteran of the Vietnam War.

A 1953 graduate of Florence High School, he received an A. S. degree in 1955 from Tarleton State College in Stephenville. He earned his B. S. degree in 1957 at Southwest Texas State University where he was commissioned through the Air Force Reserve Officers Training Corps program.

His wife, Ruth, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Parsons of Florence.

Miranda rites in Georgetown

Leonardo B. Miranda Sr., 1012 Timber Street, Georgetown, died Tuesday, October 21, 1975 in Holy Cross Hospital, Austin. He was 61.

Mr. Miranda was born August 8, 1914 in Burnet, son of Apolimar and Katherine (Beltran) Miranda. He married the former Angelita Ramirez November 11, 1944 in Georgetown, and to them were born five children. He was a member of Woodmen of the World and St. Helen's Catholic Church, Georgetown.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Angelita Miranda of Georgetown; two sons, Antonio Miranda and Leonardo Miranda Jr. of Georgetown; three daughters, Miss Mary Miranda and Mrs. Lois Ramos of Georgetown, and Mrs. Kathy Pina of Leander; his mother, Mrs. Katherine B. Miranda, Georgetown.

Also surviving are four brothers, Domingo Miranda, Florence; John Miranda, Georgetown; Vicente Miranda and Julio Miranda, Houston.

Four sisters survive: Mrs. Carmen Dela Cruz, Mrs. Domingo Frias and Mrs. Eligio Dela Cruz, all of Georgetown, and Mrs. Cleto Ybarra, Temple; also three grandchildren.

Funeral services were held at 2 p.m. Thursday, October 23, 1975 at St. Helen's Catholic Church, Father Alfred Palermo officiating.

Pallbearers included Richard Zavala, Johnny Zavala, Marcos Ramos, Tom Lozano, Romulo Lozano and Ray Braun.

Burial was in Georgetown Memorial Cemetery.

Cub Pack 153 meets

Cub Scout Pack 153 will hold its first pack meeting of the year at Woodmen of the World Lodge at 7 p.m. Tuesday, October 28. All boys ages 8 to 10 interested in joining Cub Scouts should plan to attend with their parents. Boys previously in Pack 153 and not over 10 years old should also plan to attend.

Your United Way dollar can buy clothing for a fire victim through the Red Cross.

Mrs. Keith, retired teacher, services here

Mrs. Lenita Fay Keith, 1602 East 18th Street, Georgetown, died Wednesday, October 22, 1975 at the Georgetown hospital. She was 74.

Mrs. Keith was born January 22, 1901 in Weatherford, Texas, daughter of Lee and Nita (Campbell) Walker. She married E. W. Keith August 28, 1923 and came to Georgetown in 1927. She taught school for 26 years.

Survivors include her husband, E. W. Keith of Georgetown; a daughter, Elaine (Mrs. Gilbreth D.) Adams of Houston; two brothers, Campbell Walker of Weatherford, and Don Walker of Oakland, Cal.; and two granddaughters, Kimberly Anne Adams and Leslie Sheryl Adams, of Houston.

Funeral services were held Friday, October 24 at 2 p. m. at Davis Funeral Home, with Rev. Al Cummins of First Baptist Church officiating.

Mrs. Lois Jean Forswall was organist and solist Wallace Evans provided the hymn "Abide With Me."

Pallbearers included W. P. Hoffman, Joe Crawford, Grady Anderson, Marvin Henderson, Ferd Tonn, Dr. H. L. Patterson and Dr. D. N. Benold.

Honorary pallbearers were members of the Ray Purl Bible Class of First Baptist Church.

Burial was in Capital Memorial Gardens.

Kubiak to talk on new charter

A slide presentation detailing the proposed Constitution to be voted on next November 4 will be shown in two Williamson County towns by State Rep. Dan Kubiak.

Kubiak said the slides will give area residents the chance to see an objective explanation of the new Constitution before deciding whether to support or oppose it at the polls.

"I urge everyone in the district to turn out and see the film in order to be better informed about the new Constitution," Kubiak said. "I will be at each presentation to answer questions and talk to constituents about the Constitution."

On October 30, the show will be presented twice, in Granger's High School Auditorium at 7 p.m. and in the Taylor National Guard Armory at 8 p.m.

Refugee locator established by local Red Cross

A refugee locator unit has been established at the American National Red Cross Headquarters, Washington, to assist in the reunification and location of Southeast Asian refugees. The unit is processing some 200 messages a day.

Any refugees in the area wishing to locate their family members should contact the local Red Cross, 478-1601, (Austin) or 863-2624 (Georgetown)) for assistance. The Red Cross will need the family member's full name, birthdate, sex, former occupation and address and any other identifying information.

The Red Cross is authorized by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, to assist refugees in obtaining basic maintenance needs. The Red Cross has been able to obtain help for refugees through the Salvation Army, Seventh Day Adventist Church, and many generous individuals and groups which is helping the refugees establish a new home.

The mailing address for the Red Cross in Austin is PO Box 1784, Austin, Texas 78767.

GEORGETOWN 4-H CLUB OFFICERS FOR 1975-76 were installed Monday night at VFW Post 8587. CAPCO Executive Committee approves area grant requests

Three agencies in Williamson County got a step closer to expansion of facilities and services Tuesday when the Executive Committee of the Capital Area Planning Council (CAPCO) approved their applications for state and federal funds totalling $66,227.

The 17-member Executive Committee unanimously endorsed requests from the City of Florence, the Williamson County Sheriff's Office, and Capital Area Human Services, Inc. (CASH), which serves the local community action agency.

Georgetown businessman Harry Gold is vice-chairman of the Executive Committee and County Judge C. L. Chance is also a member.

Florence's application to finance expansion of its sewer system will now go on to the federal Environmental Protection Agency (EPA).

The application from the Sheriff's Office to fund a centralized 24-hour dispatch system will be forwarded to the Criminal Justice Division of the Governor's Office.

CASH's request for administrative funds goes to the Texas Department of Community Affairs.

CAPCO acts as a go-between for those federal and state agencies and others, reviewing grant applications to insure they meet federal, state, and regional requirements.

If the EPA, CDJ, and TDCA approve the applications and money is available, the applicants will be entitled to it.

—0—

Florence applied to the EPA for $15,000 to conduct a study of how its sanitary sewer system might be upgraded and expanded.

The 20-year-old system was designed to serve a population of about 850, which has now grown to over 1,000.

The study would serve as the first step toward eventual construction of an improved $561,558 system.

Noting that the current system is overloaded during periods of heavy rainfall, County Commissioner Wesley Foust submitted testimony that, "Florence needs immediate assistance."

CAPCO's Government Applications Review Committee (GARC) reported to the Executive Committee, "This project is in accord with and implementive of the CAPCO Regional Water and Sewer Plan.

The proximity of the City of Florence to the Killeen-Fort Hood Complex and the proposed reservoirs on the San Gabriel River in Williamson County place the community in the potential path of sizable growth.

Plans should include capacity for expansion to meet projected 1995 needs."

The EPA funds, if granted, will be channeled to Florence through the Texas Water Quality Board (TWQB).

Florence would supply $5000 for the study.

Sheriff August Bosshard said he was quite pleased by the Executive Committee's approval of the county's application for $23,212 to develop a 24-hour dispatching system in the courhouse.

"What we don't have right now, and what we need, is a full-time dispatcher," said Bosshard.

He added, "We're not trying to take anything away from any city police department. All I want is what the cities have, a full-time dispatch system."

Bosshard said he hopes to have a supervisor for the dispatch system named by the November 10 County Commissioners' meeting.

The county would have to provide $6840 to add to $23,212 from the Criminal Justice Division of the Governor's Office in order to fund the system.

The dispatch office would be operated by two dispatchers and a supervisor working in a central area with radio, computers to retrieve crime information, and perhaps a teletype, Bosshard explained.

Bosshard also said all county vehicles would have access to the service. This would include the vehicles operated by constables, county commissioners, and the county ambulance service.

An earlier application for the same funding was returned to CAPCO's Criminal Justice Systems Committee because it incorrectly stated that there were no 24-hour dispatching systems in Williamson County.

Georgetown, Taylor, and Granger all have such systems.

Bosshard said the error was made by CAPCO, not by the Sheriff's Office. It was corrected before the application was again reviewed Tuesday.

—0—

Also approved was an application to the Texas Department of Community Affairs for $28,015 to continue operation of Capital Area Human Services, Inc.

CASH is a consortium of community action agencies, including Williamson-Burnet Opportunities, Inc., which has an office in Georgetown.

Flogene Ebeling, assistant director of the agency, said, "The money awarded by the Department of Community Affairs is for administration of CASH. We will get services as a result of the grant, and we may get some dollars, but no dollar amount has been specified yet."

"This grant," she continued, "will keep CASH operating for the next 12 months, and expands what may be available to us."

CASH coordinates the efforts of the community action agencies in Williamson, Hays, and Burnet counties, to obtain funds for delivery of human services including for housing, health, education, and employment programs.

NEW OWNERS, NEW NAME — Located at 212 West Eighth Street is the Sandwich Grove, owned and operated by Mrs. Rea Handzlik. She is assisted by two of her foster children, Cathy and Tammie, and her husband, Steve. Sandwich Grove is open 8 a. m. until midnight Monday through Saturday.

Sandwich Grove open for business

The Sandwich Grove, located at 212 West Eighth Street, was opened two weeks ago by Mrs. Rea Handzlik.

Formerly the Yellow Submarine, Sandwich Grove is open from 8 a. m. until midnight, Monday through Saturday, serving breakfast, a variety of sandwiches, soups, chili, desserts and drinks.

Mrs. Handzlik is assisted by her husband, Steve, and Mrs. Bonnie Moore and six of her daughters. The Handziks, foster parents for 23 years, have nine foster children.

They moved to Texas in August from Grand Rapids, Michigan. At present they are living in Austin, where their children are enrolled in school. They plan to move to Georgetown as soon as their new residence is remodeled.

"I fix things the way I like to eat them and I don't skimp on anything," Mrs. Hanzlik said.

"Some people are somewhat leery when you tell them you sell a hamburger for 30 cents, but it is 3 ounces of good meat on a 4-inch bun," she continued.

Other menu items are eggs, hot cakes, ham, sausage or bacon for breakfast, hamburgers, cheeseburgers, bacon-lettuce-tomato sandwiches, barbecue beef or pork sandwiches, cottage cheese salad, chef's salad, tossed salad and drinks, plus many other items, too numerous to name.

FOOTBALL CONTEST
PICK THE WINNERS AND WIN A PRIZE

Here's How You Play:

HERE WE GO AGAIN! It's football time -- and time for the annual County SUN Football Contest. If you're a Saturday morning armchair quarterback, you can enter this fun Contest and check up on yourself! Might even win a little money at it or a free theater ticket.

Here's a game to test your skill -- it's a game that the whole family can enjoy. Spread this page out on the kitchen table. Let everybody play. There'll be a new contest each week until about the middle of November.
So ready, get set, GO!

- Win $10, $5, or $3 for first, second or third respectively.
- Next five winners may pick up a free ticket to the Palace Theater!
- Pick up all prizes and theater tickets at The SUN.
- The only notification of the winners will be in the following week's issue.
- See this week's football games on this page.
- In each game, check the team you think will win. (You do NOT need to indicate score).
- Unless all games are marked, your entry will be automatically disqualified.
- Then to eliminate as nearly as possible any ties in this fun-test, every entry must have the score marked on "The Tie Breaker" game listed at right.
- Only one entry per person will be qualified, but as many from a family may enter as wish to do so -- except employees and families of the Williamson County SUN.
- You may enter the fun-test on this page. Or you may copy the games on another sheet of paper, indicating your pick in each game.
- All entries must be brought to The SUN by 5:00 p.m. Friday or mailed with a postmark not later than 7:00 p.m. Friday of each week. The SUN will grade all entries, and The SUN's decision will be Final and incontestable.
- Have FUN! And patronize the businesses whc make this fun-test possible.

Games This Week

Put an 'X' in the parenthesis in front of the team which you think will win that game.

Revised constitution
Propositions 6-7-8 discussed

In previous issues of the Sunday Sun we published arguments for and against the first five of the eight propositions changing and updating the Texas Constitution. In today's paper, the same treatment goes to the last three propositions.

This issue will confront Texas voters November 4 and many say it will yield the most important vote Texans will cast in a long time.

THE SUN HAS NOT taken a position on any of the propositions but will do so before the election.

PROPOSITION NO. 6 provides a new Article IX, Local Government, which authorizes the powers of local government. Under this amendment local government would remain basically the same with the exception that County Commissioners' Courts would be granted ordinance-making powers.

Proponents argue that: counties should have the authority to regulate unincorporated areas within their boundaries to insure orderly planning and development, protect the environment and adapt to the immediate needs of the people without the necessity of going to the Legislature each time for special authorization to do those things which a governing body should have the power to do on its own.

Opponents of the proposal argue that: The granting of such legislative authority to County Commissioners' Courts would give rise to a multiplicity of regulations and undertaking of projects and programs in undeveloped, unincorporated areas which are appropriate only to an urban-developed area; and the Commissioners' Courts have easy access to the Legislature so that it can be granted authority to do specific things.

The proposal would also permit cities of more than 1500 population to create their own home-rule government with an autonomous city charter giving towns of 1500 or more the same rights and powers that are needed by the major metropolitan communities. The present population limitation on home-rule cities is 5000 or more.

Proponents argue that this is necessary to meet the needs of the smaller communities of the state in establishing programs necessary to serve their population needs. Opponents of the proposal claim that it would be granting an unnecessarily broad, autonomous power to small communities which can generally provide for the limited needs of its citizens under the general law provisions of the state statutes.

There is also a provision for intergovernmental cooperation and consolidation of offices and transfer of functions between local political subdivisions. Proponents claim that this would result in a substantial reduction in costs and duplication of services of local governments. Opponents claim that this same consolidation and cooperation is presently authorized by the Constitution and has not accomplished the desired results.

PROPOSITION NO. 7 provides a new Article X, General Provisions, which is basically a housekeeping article. It includes: the homestead provisions; separate or community property; protection of personal property from forced sale; protection of wages from garnishment; limitations upon banking corporations; provisions for the regulation of alcoholic beverages; and provisions for the regulation of medical practitioners.

It prohibits lotteries and gift enterprises; regulates interest and lending; provides for the various retirement systems of public employees, and protecting the environment, conserving natural resources and public property as well as wildlife resources.

Proponents of the new Constitution say that this amendment is necessary to take care of those constitutional protections and prohibitions that exist in the present Constitution, are desirable, and do not particularly fit under any of the other articles.

Opponents contend that: while this does continue some desirable protections of the existing Constitution, it adds one very undesirable aspect in the language which seeks to protect the environment. This language could create a super land title in the state which would give legislators the authority to exercise all sorts of controls over the use of the property; that it would conceivably give rise to land use enforcement, statewide zoning and building codes and remove a portion of the landowners title from him and vest it in the state; that this is the fixing of title to all property in the state which could be held temporarily and at the will of the state by an individual citizen.

PROPOSITION NO 8. provides a new Article XI, Method of Amending the Constitution of the State. It maintains the same basis for submission of amendments as was utilized in submitting these eight amendments; that is, submission by an affirmative vote of two-thirds of the membership of both houses of the Legislature and adoption by a simple majority of the people voting in an election called for that purpose.

It does add a provision that a question of a constitutional convention be submitted by the Legislature at least once each thirty years. Proponents argue that this added provision is necessary so that the people will not have to be governed by a document that is 100 years old without ever having had an opportunity to totally revise it. Opponents of the provision contend that the current Constitution can adapt itself to all situations including that of calling a constitutional convention as it did in 1973; that there is no need to be told by the Constitution how often the people have to revise it.

PTA sponsors matinee show

The Georgetown PTA will sponsor the 2nd annual student holiday children's matinee.

The movie committee has selected five dates and movies that will be shown through the school calendar year at the Palace Theatre.

The first movie, "Hold That Hypnotist," a Bowery Boys series will be shown Friday, Oct. 31. Box office opens 2 p. m., show time is 2:15 p. m.

The ticket books of 5 will be sold in advance for $3. and single tickets sold in advance are 60 cents. Ticket books go on sale Tuesday, October 27 and Wednesday, October 28 at Primary, Westside, and Northside Middle Schools.

The tickets can also be purchased anytime by contacting Linda Collings, 863-6189; Harriet Rea, 863-3136; Connie Goff, 863-6439; Penny Dewitt 863-5383.

Tickets purchased at the box office will be 75 cents and sold only on availability of seats.

Tennis team ends tourney

The varsity men's tennis team at Southwestern University completed the second of its singles tournaments among themselves with the following tentative ranking: David McNitzky, Jay Elder, Cliff Leonard, Greg Gordon, Spencer Cluff, Raymond Khouw, Paul Irwin, Philip Sewell, Joel Youngblood, Bill Pitts, and James Cohagan.

In the first round, Irwin beat Pitts 6-1, 6-1; Cluff beat Cohagan 6-4, 6-1; and Sewell beat Youngblood 6-4, 1-6, 7-5.

Second round action found Leonard topping Irwin 6-3, 6-2; Elder defeating Khouw 6-2, 3-6, 6-3;.

In the first round consolation, Youngblood topped Cohagan 6-2, 6-1, putting Cohagan in eleventh place.

Youngblood then gained ninth place and Pitts tenth with a 4-6, 6-1, 6-1 victory by the former. Sewell defaulted to Irwin for eighth and seventh places respectively. Cluff gained fifth place and Khouw sixth with a default.

Leonard defeated Gordon 6-7, 6-2, 7-6 for third and fourth places respectively.

McNitzky then won the tournament and put Elder in second place with a 6-4, 6-7, 7-5 victory.

Earlier in the semis Elder defeated Leonard 6-2, 6-0 and McNitzky edged Gordon 6-7, 6-0, 6-1.

In second round consolation, Khouw beat Irwin 6-2, 6-2 and Cluff beat Sewell 6-2, 6-1.

These eleven players began a doubles tournament among themselves Oct. 15 with Elder and Gordon seeded first and McNitzky and Khouw seeded second.

Liberty Hill NEWS

BY HOWARD N. WILSON

The next big event in our community that we are aware of will be Liberty Hill Market Day Saturday, November 1. Market Day promises to be even bigger and better than it has been before; some additional booths have been constructed to accommodate the increasing demand. At this time we are not aware of whether spaces are still available, but Ellis Posey is the man to contact for any information about Market Day, including the availability of space. Market Day is very definitely an event that is having a great impact upon our community and many surrounding communities. It is really good to see so many people in town at one time and see that they are obviously enjoying themselves — there is just nothing else like good friends and the fellowship that they enjoy when they get together!

Classes in the Liberty Hill schools will be dismissed at the regular time Thursday afternoon, October 30, and there will be no classes Friday, October 31. All students will get a holiday so the teachers will be able to attend the TSTA Convention in Austin.

—0—

The schedule for the Liberty Hill boys' and girls' varsity and junior varsity basketball teams has been released. The first game for the boys' and girls' varsity teams will be held on the home hardwood with Lometa at 7 p. m. Friday, November 14. The first game for the Junior High School teams will be here at home with Lago Vista at 6:30 p. m. November 20.

Our basketball teams will be competing in a regular schedule as a member of District 56-B for the first time this year, and we are sure that Coach Melvina Floyd and Coach Daryl Moffitt and all of their players will deeply appreciate your support. Be sure to attend the games whenever you can; we are confident that you will find that basketball is a fast-moving and enjoyable game that is second only to football.

—0—

The menu in the Liberty Hill school cafeteria for the week of October 27 through October 30, will be as follows: Monday — Salisbury steak, potatoes with gravy, peas, peach cobbler, and milk; Tuesday — Barbecue sausage, mixed vegetables, French fries, fruit and milk; Wednesday — Stew, cornbread, salad, apple cobbler, and milk; Thursday — Surf cake patties, French fries, slaw, cookies and milk.

—0—

The Liberty Hill Panther Band is sponsoring a Bargain Booth at the PTA Halloween Carnival that will be held at the school on October 31. Handmade items, pot plants, canned goods, paper back books, comic books, and jewelry are being solicited by the PTA to be sold in their booth. Anyone who is interested in donating any of these items to help the band is urged to bring them by the school by October 30, or contact Rhane Hoppe.

A gallon jar of pecans will be on display, and that will be the prize for whoever comes the closest in guessing the number of pecans in the jar. Support the Band and support the School — come to the carnival!

—0—

The Liberty Hill Garden Club will meet at 10 a. m. Wednesday, November 12, in the Fellowship Hall of the Rock Church of Christ. The subject for the meeting will be "Free and Easy with Dried Material;" the Speaker will be Alice Coughfield, who is a National Judge from Abilene.

All members are urged to attend this enlightening meeting and to bring a friend; Mrs. James Cluck, the publicity chairwoman, has issued this information in hopes that there will be one hundred percent of the members in attendance along with their friends!

—0—

November 1, starts the new street light year for many of you, while some of the others start on January 1, 1976. Please be reminded that these lights must have your full support so our town will continue to be well lighted. It is a recognized fact that lights prevent crime and promote safety, so please do your part!

Ken Sheppard engagements for November

November engagements for Ken Sheppard, instructor in music education and choral music in the School of Fine Arts at South-western University, include guest conductor for high school choirs and orchestra in Norman, Okla., on Nov. 3-4; clinician for junior high choir at the First Methodist Church in Richardson on Nov. 8-0; and judge for Texas Music Education Association area auditions in Seguin on Nov. 15.

Sheppard has also been selected by Texas Education Agency to serve on a committee to develop curriculum guide for secondary vocal music education.

A graduate of Hardin-Simmons University with a bachelor of music degree and Texas Tech University with a master of music education degree with voice and music education as areas of concentration, Sheppard has had additional private study with Dr. B. R. Henson of the University of Oklahoma.

Sheppard has served as guest-clinician-conductor in numerous choral festivals in Texas, Oklahoma, and New Mexico, as guest lecturer on choral techniques, and has done extensive choral and solo judging. Memberships for Sheppard include Phi Kappa Phi, Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia, Texas Choral Directors Association, Texas Music Educators Association, American Choral Directors Association, National Association of Teachers of Singing.

Bilingual class helps students learn to drive

Classes in English and Spanish will be offered November 4-6 at the Woodmen of the World Hall, North College Street in Georgetown, to prepare drivers to pass the written exam for a Texas driver's license.

The three-day course will be offered free of charge. All that is needed is proof of birth date, such as birth certificate, baptismal certificate or school record.

People of all ages are welcome, but anyone wishing to take the test must be 18 years or older. The test will be given Friday, Nov. 7 at the Georgetown Driver's License Office.

Those wishing to register should leave their name at the driver's license office. 102 W. Eighth Street, 863-5816, or with Susan Bates, 1805½ Holly, 863-6485. Transportation will be provided to the class for those who need it.

Children are also welcome to stay while the class is in session. There will be toys at the office for them to play with.

The bilingual driving class was originally scheduled to be held at the Mary Bailey Day Care Center.

Heart Association plans Cyclethon next Saturday

A Cyclethon will be held next Saturday in Georgetown to benefit the American Heart Association. It will be sponsored by the association's West Williamson County Division.

Registration will start at 8 a. m. at the Community Center in San Gabriel Park. A measured route will take the cyclists along Interstate 35 east access road to the Nickerson Farms restaurant and back to the park on the west access road. It is approximately nine miles.

Students in the fifth to twelfth grades may participate in the event. They should pick up an entry form at their school and enlist sponsors — friends and relatives — who will contribute a specific amount per mile achieved.

A second prize worth $25 includes a $10 gift certificate from Gellman's Department Store and $15 cash donated by TG & Y, Safeway and Johnson's Body Shop. Third prize is a $10 gift certificate from Gold's Department Store.

Registration forms may also be obtained by calling Mrs. Sansom at 863-6566 or at 863-3538 after 5 p. m.

Funds raised during the Cyclethon will support local and national programs of heart research, education and community services, Diane Sansom, chairman of the event said.

Cyclists who bring in the most money during the event will be awarded prizes donated by local businesses. First prize is a $50 Savings Bond donated by Georgetown Savings and Loan and Citizens State Bank.

Leander officials will ask $1.176 million bond for schools

The third time seemed to be the charm Thursday night for the Leander school trustees, who set a $1.176 million bond election for December 13 after discarding two previous proposals.

If passed, the bond would fund 12 categories of repair, major construction, and additions, as well as the purchase of 50 acres of land.

Two of the school board members also expressed relief after the regular session that a lawsuit against the board by angry taxpayers met its end Wednesday morning in Judge Kirby Vance's 26th District Court at Georgetown.

—0—

THE BOARD DEBATED at some length the recommendation of its Building Committee to propose a $4.64 million bond and defeated a motion to ask for $4.666 million before making its final decision.

Trustee David Kirkland made the motion to call a $4.666 million election, commenting, "I can't honestly vote for land appropriations until we get the necessary facilities. This proposal (for $1.176 million) doesn't include what we will need tomorrow, and we're going to have to build for tomorrow's capacity.

"Some day," Kirkland added, "you're going to have to look at kids pouring out the windows."

Kirkland referred to the board's apparent decision not to include $3.49 million in the bond proposal to fund a second high school for Leander.

Board president James H. Moore earlier had recommended that only the lower figure be proposed to the voters in order to promote the bond issue's chances of passing.

Trustee Bob Luce moved to amend Kirkland's motion, asking that the bond ballot reflect two propositions.

One proposition would have been for $1.176 million to finance all proposals except that for the new high school. The second proposition would have included the cost of that facility.

Luce's motion to amend died for lack of a second, and the motion for a $4.666 million bond election was put up for a roll call vote of the board.

Only Kirkland and trustee Dr. Loyd Hampton supported the motion, which failed 5-2.

Immediately afterward, a motion to call a $1.176 million election passed, but by only one vote.

Trustees Moore, Hampton, Luce, and Gerald Estepp supported the measure. Trustees Betty Buford, Benton Beard, and Kirkland voted against it.

Beard commented in voting "no" that, "I'm going to be with the majority when the vote comes."

Mrs. Buford asked that her reasons for opposing the election be recorded. She said, "I don't think the district can benefit from calling a bond election at this time. Maybe in the middle of January it might pass, but I don't think it will right now."

She apparently referred to voter unrest over higher Leander school taxes which led to the threat of one lawsuit against the board during the summer, and the actual filing of October 14.

In the wake of that disturbance, the trustees cancelled a $5.6 million bond election they had set for September 20.

Election boxes for the December 13 election were designated at the school administration building, the Faubion Elementary school, the West Rural Neighborhood Center, the Volente Fire Hall, and the Nameless school.

Voters will be asked to approve a bond for the following projects:

- Installation of a concrete curb and gutter along West Street, $10,000.
- Construction of a sanitary sewer system and waste water treatment plant, $125,000.
- Major repairs to the Leander Elementary school, $33,000.
- Acquisition of land for a third elementary school, $45,000.
- Addition of six permanent classrooms at Faubion Elementary, $86,000.
- Addition of four one-room temporary buildings at Leander Elementary, to be connected with covered walkways, $38,000.

- Addition of two asphalt tennis courts, $10,000.
- Construction of a new football stadium with aluminum seats and an all-weather track, $350,000.
- Construction of a new athletic field house, $180,000.
- Construction of a new vehicle maintenance facility, $60,000.
- Purchase of approximately 50 acres for land for construction of the stadium, field house, and maintenance facility, and eventually, a new high school, $75,000.

Plus 10% allowance for inflation and escalating prices.

A temporary restraining order against the Leander school board which was granted on behalf of the Leander Taxpayers League was dissolved Wednesday morning by District Judge Kirby Vance in Georgetown.

Judge Vance also denied the League's request for a temporary injunction.

Austin attorney Robert Carr had filed a suit against the trustees on October 14, alleging inequities in property appraisals in the school district.

Carr acted for the Taxpayers League in filing the suit.

Vance issued a temporary order restraining the district from mailing tax notices until a hearing scheduled for Friday morning.

But the school board asked for a hearing to dissolve the restraining order and deny an injunction.

That hearing was held Wednesday morning, with the school board and administrative officers entering evidence that the notices had already been mailed and the issue was moot.

The restraining order was then dissolved.

Thursday night trustee Luce said he was glad the suit was finished, adding, "We had those appraisals right. It (the suit) never had a chance."

Mrs. Buford said she also was relieved, but noted that bitter taxpayers would probably work hard to defeat the bond proposal.

will undertake those activities, or even all of them. Other projects may still be nominated.

The Advisory Council will make its recommendation for use of Community Development funds after the public hearings are completed. The Council will take the Commission's recommendations into its deliberations and make a decision on which projects to program.

At the July meeting, only chairman Charles A. Forbes was present to represent the Citizens Advisory Commission.

Other members are: August Bosshard, 1801 Paige Street; Robert F. B. Morse, 509 Oakcrest; Everett Williams, 2008 Church Street; Bob Gaines, 712 Rucker Street; Johnnie Ochoa, 1505 Walnut Street; Edwin Schneider, 806 Country Club Road; Mrs. Ethel Moore, 909 West 7th Street; Dick Cervenka, 106 Ridge Oak Drive; Oliver L. No school Friday for convention

Georgetown public schools will be dismissed Oct. 31 to allow local educators to attend the annual fall convention of District XIII, Texas State Teachers Association (TSTA) in Austin.

The event is scheduled for Oct. 30-31 and will be held at the Austin Municipal Auditium. Activities will include a general session for all educators in the 14-county district, section meetings for those in various subject matter areas and interest, and a meeting of the District XIII House of Delegates.

This district governing body is composed of elected representatives (one for each 25 members) from each local association in the district.

Elected delegates from the Georgetown unit will be Scherry Chapman, Evelyn Robinson, Pat Adkins, David Cardona, Carolyn Sydow, president of the local TSTA, and Donna Gage. Mrs. James Quinn is alternate delegate.

The District XIII House of Delegates will meet at 4:30 p.m., October 30, at the Terrace Convention Center.

The opening general sessions begins at 9 a.m. Oct. 31 at Municipal Auditorium. Harry Wong of Redwood City, Calif., is the featured speaker. He will discuss "Motivating the Educationally Uninvolved." Larry Yawn of Austin, state president of TSTA, will also speak at the general session.

Section meetings for those in special fields such as English, math and school administration will be held at noon and in the afternoon Oct. 31.

Church to host African priests

SU receives endowment valued at $1.3 million

The late Mrs. Virginia Lazenby O'Hara of Dallas included Southwestern University at Georgetown in her will with a gift in Dr. Pepper Company stock valued at $1.3 million, Dr. Durwood Fleming, University President, announced to the Board of Trustees Friday.

Southwestern's trustees have designated that the gift be placed in the endowment for the University, President Fleming said.

Mrs. O'Hara's gift raises the book value of the endowment of the school to the $18 million level. This ranks Southwestern University fourth in endowment among the 81 Methodist senior colleges in the United States.

"An ample and growing endowment is the secret of perpetuity and growth of the private and independent colleges and universities in our Republic," President Fleming said.

Now there is $19,000 in endowed funds per student, he said.

Mrs. O'Hara, widow of former Dr. Pepper Board Chairman John B. O'Hara, was the daughter of Robert Sherman Lazenby, who developed the formula for Dr. Pepper Company in Waco in 1884.

Mr. Lazenby was a close friend of the late Dr. Robert Stewart Hyer, fourth president of Southwestern. Mrs. O'Hara remembered visiting the Southwestern campus in Georgetown as a child and watching her father give financial assistance to the state's oldest university.

Mrs. O'Hara continued her interest in Southwestern University by endowing the first professorship in the recently successful $10 Million Program for Progress for the University. Her gift of $100,000 in 1972 endowed the Robert Sherman Lazenby Professorship in Physics.

"Through Mrs. O'Hara's munificent gift she set another example of enlightened philanthropy. She enriched our University and established a lasting memorial," President Fleming said.

the passing glance

You have to be as careful in talking about commercial prospects as Richard was about his tapes, but I can say that several firms with potential substantive payrolls are interested in locating here.

GEORGETOWN ISN'T the only town in their picture, of course, and there's no assurance that any of them will decide to come. On the other hand, when you have lookers you stand a chance of comers!

Our community moves into another era of merchandising this week with the opening of the giant Gibson store, to be managed here by Dwight Hood. Gibson's, as most of us already know, is one of the most aggressive and progressive merchandising giants operating in the state. The firm, by opening a large store (mammoth by our standards) in Georgetown, is indicating a firm belief in the area's future market potentials.

THE SUN IS PLEASED to welcome this firm to our community. I believe it will be an asset to our entire merchandising effort.

Brothers David and Don Hewlett, quarterback and center respectively of the Eagles, have an agreement among themselves. "Open a hole and let me sneak in for a TD and you get 3 of the points," David propositioned big brother. "That's the deal," big brother responded. So, if you kept statistics on the Lampasas game, split that third touchdown right down the middle between the brothers, which sure seems fair to me!

Here's a little something I picked up: People of all sizes agree that the greatest word of all has three letters: God. Moreover, the greatest sentence has only three words: God is love. (1 John 4:9).

WHEN GALILEO FIRST revealed his vast astronomical universe, some complained that he had destroyed their faith in the God who cared for ordinary earthly mortals.

"The sun, with all those planets moving around it," responded the astronomer, "can ripen the smallest bunch of grapes as if it had nothing else to do. Why then should I doubt His power?"

Why indeed?

Only five days left

Absentee vote sputters

With just five days to vote absentee in the Texas Constitutional Revision election, Williamson County Clerk Dick Cervenka says his office has received only 22 absentee ballots.

"People used to be interested in elections," said the clerk. "I don't know why, but it doesn't seem to be that way now."

"This is really more important even than election of your state officials," Cervenka said, reminding the voters that, "This is something we're going to have to live with a long time if it passes."

Regular voting day for the election is Tuesday, November 4. Absentee voting ends October 31.

If all eight proposed amendments to the state Constitution pass, Texas will have a new basic charter.

Registered Williamson County voters who expect to be absent during regular voting November 4 may vote by absentee ballot during business hours in Cervenka's office on the first floor of the county courthouse.

Voters whose religious beliefs forbid their voting on November 4 may also vote by absentee ballot after signing an affidavit to that effect.

Those physically incapable of traveling to the courthouse and those who expect to be absent during absentee voting may vote by mail.

Other balloting done by mail must be completed outside the county.

To ballot by mail, voters must secure an application from a county clerk.

All election materials must then be received, completed, and postmarked outside Williamson County.

Mailed ballots may be received through November 4.

Cervenka noted that the election will be a bilingual one, that is, all election material with which voters come in contact must be printed in Spanish as well as English.

Cervenka also commented, "People should study the proposed new constitution well before coming to the polls to vote. There will be no explanation of the proposal in the voting booth beyond a general description on the ballot."

"A lot of people just don't seem to understand what it's all about," he continued. "I've talked to several people who said they weren't going to vote because they don't understand it.

"We've publicized it in the media and done everything we can to explain it."

Cervenka said turnout during absentee voting is usually an indication of what turnout will be on election day.

Residents can examine Community Development at Thursday hearing

Georgetown residents will have the opportunity to scrutinize the city's suggestions for use of Community Development money or to offer their own ideas for projects when the Citizens Advisory Commission holds its second public hearing on the subject Thursday.

The 23-member Commission will meet at 7 p.m. in the Council Room at City Hall. Mayor Joe Crawford has urged members of the City Council, the Planning and Zoning Commission, residents of proposed project areas, and the general public to attend.

Georgetown was awarded $228,000 in Community Development funds last year by the federal Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD). The money is being used to construct a raw water intake structure at the site of the future North Fork Lake.

The city also hopes to receive another $228,000 this year for use in 1976, the same amount in 1977, plus $152,000 in 1978 and $76,000 in 1979.

City Building Inspector Tom Sams, coordinator of Community Development application activities, said part of the Thursday hearing will be devoted to tentative establishment of long-range goals and short-range objectives for the city.

HUD requires that a city establish such goals, incorporate them into a program of projected activities, and relate proposed Community Development projects to the goals in order to receive funds.

The city has retained the services of urban planning consultant Sam Wyse to help with the development of a goals program.

Wyse, of Wyse and Associates in Dallas, last year examined Georgetown's probable growth and needs to the year 2000 in an Interim Report. He is currently at work on a Comprehensive Plan for the city.

At the Thursday hearing, Wyse will present a list of the kinds of goals a city might establish as a guide for use of Community Development money.

Also Thursday, the Advisory Commission will hear more detailed explanations of the projects the city administration has nominated for Community Development funding this year.

At a previous hearing July 29, the city nominated six activities for consideration by the Commission.

Final decision on selection and priority of projects lies with the City Council, which is scheduled to adopt a Community Development program for 1976 at a public hearing January 12.

HUD requires, however, that the city seek citizen input to Community Development planning, and in Georgetown the Citizen's Advisory Commission has been designated as the channel for that input.

Through the Commission, citizens likely to be affected by Community Development and housing activities, especially low and moderate-income residents, can express their needs, their preferences about proposed activities, and their complaints.

They may also nominate projects for consideration and offer their advice on determination of priorities among projects.

The city is required by HUD to hold at least two public hearings on Community Development before adopting a program for HUD's scrutiny, and more if necessary.

Sams said the city is particularly anxious to gather input from residents in the Ash Street, San Jose Street, and West Fourteenth Street areas.

Those areas were targeted by the city at the July hearing for possible Community Development storm drainage projects.

The three drainage projects together would cost $176,549.

Also nominated were construction of a new Neighborhood Center at a cost of approximately $25,000 and acquisition of two tracts of real estate at a total cost of about $85,000.

The City Council has not yet resolved that it

Closed Monday

The Post Office will be closed Monday, October 27, in observance of Veterans' Day, although other businesses chose to remain open and observe Veterans' Day on the traditional date, November 11.

There will be a 2 p. m. holiday pickup of mail from the box outside the Post Office. Mail will be placed in the post office boxes, but there will be no counter service or rural or city deliveries.

The two banks, First National Bank and Citizens State Bank, and Georgetown Savings and Loan will be open.

Offices in the Williamson County Courthouse will be open for business as usual.

It's time to turn your clocks back

The state and most of the nation will be going off Daylight Savings Time and back on Standard Time this weekend.

Clocks should be moved back an hour to make the conversion. The official change-over time is early Sunday morning but most find it easier to make the one hour time change at bedtime Saturday night.

Texas will remain on Central Standard Time until April. At that time, clocks will be moved forward an hour to return to Daylight Savings Time.

Remember the adage made up a few years ago to help in the time change, "spring forward, fall back," and turn back your clock Saturday night.

Gibson opening to be held Monday

The Gibson's Discount Center in Georgetown will hold its grand opening Monday.

Ribbon cutting ceremonies are scheduled for 8:45 a.m. at the store in the Lakeaire Shopping Center. A representative of the Governor's office will perform the honors following the comments of Paul Gibson, of the chain's headquarters in Dallas.

Herbert R. Gibson, Sr., founder of the stores, will also be present for the ceremonies. The chain he started with a single store in Abilene in 1958 now consists of 730 stores in 36 states, Guam and Tokyo.

The events of the day will start with a breakfast for other store managers and employees of the chain. Over 20 city and college officials and business representatives have been invited.

Dwight Hood is manager of the store which features discount prices. He will be joined in operating the store by Phis Harris.

David Ottinger, a pharmacist from Round Rock, heads the pharmacy.

Commissioners to discuss county ambulance service

Two items relating to the county's troubled ambulance service will be on the agenda of a special meeting of the Williamson County Commissioners' Court scheduled for Tuesday.

The court will discuss several topics concerning the ambulance service that has operated at a deficit of over $131,000 as of August 31.

Commissioners have said the county wouldn't be able to operate in such a deficit in the future and raised the possibility that the court may discontinue operation of one of the five locations.

They have said another solution may involve county operation of the service rather than contracting it to cities as it is now operated.

The court will also consider amending their motion awarding of bids on ambulance equipment. In a meeting last Friday, commissioners decided to accept the lowest bids on equipment but have since decided that the lowest price doesn't always bring the best equipment.

Salary adjustments in Precinct Number Three and the hiring of a secretary for Commissioner Wesley Johnson will also be discussed at the meeting.

Other items on the agenda include: recognizing Justices of the Peace completing required JP training, a Civil Defense resolution, an appearance by Trey Palmer concerning safety stripping of roads and modifications of the Title VI grant.

The meeting will be held on the first floor of the Williamson County Courthouse at 10 a. m.

Week's news in a nutshell

GEORGETOWN SCHOOL TRUSTEES were quizzed Monday night by a high school student, Don Spellman, regarding the reasoning supporting the hair code as defined under the dress code in the high school handbook.

Due to the opinion issued by Attorney General John Hill regarding free public schools the board voted to teach all driver education courses next summer on a trial basis after those students who have paid for the course for this year have completed classes.

—0—

LEANDER TRUSTEES LOOKED at three alternative methods of structuring bond proposals and tentatively considered asking for $4.6 million, though they didn't make that a firm proposition.

That amount is just under a million dollars less than a previous $5.6 million proposal that was scrapped in the wake of strong opposition over higher school taxes.

—0—

NO OPPOSITION was voiced to the proposed extension of Georgetown's Scenic Drive at a public hearing Monday afternoon when Georgetown city officials and hospital administrators, as well as representatives of the Lower Colorado River Authority gave their blessing to the project.

—0—

STEERING COMMITTEE composed of members of the Georgetown Hospital Authority Board are developing a fund raising project for new medical facilities planned for the city. About $300,000 is needed to meet requirements for a long-term, low-interest loan from Farmers Home Administration.

FIVE DAYS ARE LEFT to vote absentee in Williamson County on the new proposed state constitution.

Paul Harvey

THE AMERICAN LIGHTHOUSE

One good example is better than a thousand admonitions. In family affairs — and in foreign affairs.

THE UNITED STATES will remain a world leader only if we are an example worthy of emulation.

the Senate Foreign Relations Committee today and for the next 10 months is conscientiously seeking a foreign policy formula for our nation in the 1980s.

What is best for us? "Containment of communism," negative diplomacy, ended in Vietnam.

"Detente," our present foreign policy, relies precariously on the personalities of temporary world leaders.

"Fortress America," as a policy, can never amount to anything more secure than an armed standoff.

MAY I RESPECTFULLY SUGGEST that we consider a "lighthouse concept." It's not untried. Indeed, for the first 150 years of our nation's existence it worked very well.

Watching our example of individual liberty and self-government, the French threw off the yoke of their dissolute kings and rapacious aristocracy; England initiated sweeping democratic reforms; Mexico, Central America and South America freed themselves from Spain.

IN OTHER WORDS, from about 1789 until the early 1900s every other enlightened nation on planet earth was going our way.

We hadn't sent them any guns, any butter or any money. But what we had done was to mind our own business so well that we were a lighthouse for the world.

Conscientious pollster George Gallup says, "The American public today is principally concerned with the domestic (the homefront) problems facing our nation — to a greater extent than any time since the Thirties."

Pollster Burns Roper says the American public "is now almost oblivious to foreign problems; instead it is intensely preoccupied with things domestic."

Selectively, I have quoted those pollsters who agree with what I am hearing first-hand during ceaseless stateside travels.

Homegrown Americans have seen our $179 billion in foreign aid (since World War II) buy more envy than friendship.

They've watched our comparatively neglected homefront's deterioration to the point of regurgitation.

NOW THEY FIGURE it's time for Uncle Sam to take care of himself, behave himself, discipline himself, improve himself, get growing again.

The lighthousekeeper's first obligation is not to throw rocks at the fog but to keep his light lit.

Yes, girls can play football just as well as boys

By the Associated Press

Phoenix, Arizona

Buzz Estrada was surrounded by young football players clamoring for his attention, anxious to get on the field and play.

"Hey coach!" one of them yelled out, "can our team be the one that throws the ball this time?"

"Coach!" cried another as Mr. Estrada attemped to hand out the colored cloths that would distinguish the two teams. "Give me one, I'm the hiker."

Mr. Estrada is the coach of the fourth, fifth, and sixth grade girls physical education classes at T. G. Barr Elementary School.

"They like football," he said. "When I started with this, one girl told me her mother didn't want her to play football because it isn't feminine. Now she's one of our quarterbacks and enjoys it."

Mr. Estrada got the coaching post when a female teacher left the job. His own sixth-grade teaching position was eliminated through a reduction in teaching staff because of declining enrollments in the school district.

"You've heard of Title IX requirements that girls have equal money for sports," he said, referring to new U.S. Department of Health, Education, and Welfare guidelines on sex discrimination. "Well, why shouldn't a man be able to coach girls' P.E.?"

Mr. Estrada said he believes girls have as much ability as boys for playing football. "It's just that a boy does it regularly and a girl doesn't. It's just going to take some working with them."

Some objections to the girls' football aspirations are being voiced — not by parents, but by male classmates.

"The boys are kind of getting upset because the girls are taking away some of the field. They think we're infringing on their benefits," he said.

But 11-year-old Arlene Parker, a sixth grader, retorts: "Girls can play, too. One of these days I hope we can play the boys so we can beat them."

Another sixth-grader, Lisa Steinhoff wants to learn all about the game. "Girls actually go to football games all the time and don't know what's happening," she said.

So Mr. Estrada started from the beginning: "This is a football, it's 12 inches long."

The girls have learned quite a bit so far, and they like the game so well they are pushing for Mr. Estrada to teach them basketball next.

The lobbyists know

As voting day on the new constitution draws nearer we have become convinced that the only people who understand its full implications must be the lobbyists.

CERTAINLY, THE POLITICIANS — all vowing to serve the public — are seeing it differently and so are the newspapers, TV commentators, lawyers, bankers, et al.

For example, the conservative Dallas Morning News has come out strongly for the whole package. On the other hand, liberal groups, including faculty and students of state universities, are also buying. It's not every day that you see the college faculties in bed with the Dallas Morning News!

Governor Briscoe is popular with the farmers and he's against it. Senator Patman is a farmer and feels a strong affinity toward the whole agricultural establishment and he's for it. Most weekly newspapers throughout the state, we figure, are conservative and they join in opposing the composition.

SO, WE HAVE A DEEPLY DIVISIVE ISSUE and the bells will keep tolling after November 4, whichever way the vote goes. We'll have recriminations aplenty. Some of our political figures will die, some may be enhanced by the outcome. We just hope the public gains.

Apparently there is a ground-swell of interest among voters and a 25 percent turnout prediction, made two weeks ago, will have to be revised upward. Texans are beginning to realize that their lives will be affected and altered by this thing they are being confronted with November 4. We should realize this every time we have the opportunity to cast our vote at the polls, for issues great and small.

Why does the farmer farm?

One wonders why the farmer stays in business, for his life-style definitely is a business. American farmers have always been better at farming than any of their counterparts because of the assurance that they will earn a living from their profession. A farmer cannot be forced to farm, with or without a profit.

The farmer cannot feed the world until his problems are alleviated, and the problems of the world will not be solved on an empty stomach. This vicious cycle must be solved, but only with sincere efforts of every person, no matter to what extent he may or may not suffer from the problems of feeding the world. —John Tower

Dear Mr. Scarbrough,

We enjoy receiving the Sun. It keeps us informed about what's going on in Georgetown. We especially enjoyed and appreciated your informative editorial concerning the proposed constitution. We thought we would receive our copy of the constitution but apparently the post office did not forward the copies sent out by state officials. Although we won't be able to vote in the election, we will always be Texans and have an interest in the state.

West Virginia is a beautiful state, especially at this time of year. Monongahela National Forest begins just a few miles outside Elkins' city limits. Leaves range in color from reds and purples to bright orange and yellow. Of course, if you vacationed in New England, you know what I'm talking about. The only added beauty in this state is the mountains and rolling hills. The mountains make travel a real handicap (especially since we're used to Texas highways), but they really are beautiful.

Jobs don't look too promising here, but the editor of the daily newspaper wants me to write some feature stories and more or less do free-lancing and help out during vacations or when reporters are ill. The editor

Austin Notebook

AUSTIN — From all sides comes advice as to how to vote in the Nov. 4 constitutional amendment election.

And almost invariably, the advice to vote "for" or "agin" the eight proposals on the ballot are accompanied by dire warnings that the people of Texas will be ruined if they vote "for" or "agin", depending on the view, of course, of the "warner."

Having the newspapers filled with these Chicken Little warnings that the sky is falling down can lead only to confusion, which generally leads voters to declare a plague on both houses and to simply decline to vote.

But the bare-boned truth is that Texas and Texans will survive with or without the new constitution.

It really makes very little change in the form of state government, retaining what Gov. Dolph Briscoe considers important — government run on a public service basis by unpaid policymakers who are seldom able to devote enough time to study to know what they are doing.

The result of having policy-making in the hands of part-time citizen boards is as it must be — the real operation of government is carried on by the professional bureaucrats who sift to the top of the heap and become the executive directors or commissioners. In 99 cases out of 100, the policy-making board accepts the recommendation of the commissioner or executive director after a fairly brief explanation.

Briscoe's statement of opposition to this was that this 100-year-old system is threatened by efforts by the constitution writers to give the biggest of the policy-making boards enough pay and enough time on the job to understand what the problem is and to reach conclusions as to the best solution. That board is, of course, the Legislature, which would be given 230 days each two years instead of 140 days in which to make the policy decisions on which state government operates.

Briscoe, at $65,000 a year and supposedly a 40-hour week, is not in the category of policy-making official, except as he might use his personal influence to get legislators to accept his suggestions from among the bales of suggestions they must accept or reject during 140 days every two years.

In the field of local government, the new constitution would take away from the Legislature and give directly to the people the right promised in the Texas Bill of Rights which would not be changed by the new constitutional amendments. That right of the people is to "alter, reform or abolish their government in such manner as they may think expedient."

This proposal in Proposition 6 on the ballot is what has stirred up the courthouse beehives. It would allow the voters of a country to create, combine or eliminate county offices and to give their county commissioners courts ordinance-making powers, to regulate things as city councils already do inside the cities. Not only has Proposition 6 aroused the county officials who don't want to be combined or eliminated, but it has also stirred those who develop subdivisions in rural areas with little limit from any element of government.

Careful voters may want to pick and choose between the eight propositions. Others will want to vote "for" or "agin" the whole eight. They have the Briscoe advice to vote "agin" them all. They have the advice of former Chief Justice Robert W. Calvert and other real students of the constitution to vote for all eight.

Taken as a whole, the new constitution would be better for Texas than the old one, so if you don't want to worry about the details, Judge Robert Calvert's advice is more soundly-based than Gov. Briscoe's.

If you want to hunt around through the many changes, you may find one or two propositions where your personal views and interests will convince you to vote "agin" that one.

But however you vote, and however Texans as a whole vote, it won't make a whole lot of difference in the immediate future in the operation of state government. It will still be a horse and buggy state government, with a helpless chief executive and a bureaucracy with little responsibility to the people it is supposed to serve.

Jack Anderson
Washington Merry-Go-Round

Corruption of the CIA

WASHINGTON — Legislators investigating the CIA have admitted privately to us what they refuse to say in public — that past Presidents were fully aware of past CIA abuses and may actually have ordered some of them.

Few of the Senators and Congressmen involved in the investigations want to blame former Chief Executives for the CIA's faults. And the sworn testimony itself is vague. Indeed, there appears to have been a conspiracy to provide Presidents with "credible deniability."

It is clear to those who are looking into the matter, however, that the CIA did not operate without Presidential direction.

The agency, in short, was not out of control. To be sure, some details of their complicated schemes were never discussed with the President. But the general plots and dirty tricks appear to have emanated, for the most part, from the White House.

The abuses grew out of the Cold War, when the decision was made that the CIA should emulate the Russian KGB by intervening in the domestic affairs of foreign governments and assassinating unfriendly world leaders.

The late CIA Director Allen Dulles, say our sources, would visit the White House to brief the President. He would lean back, assume an air of mystery, and explain in an enigmatic way what the CIA was up to. The President would frequently give Dulles general instructions.

The meaning of these roundabout discussions was quite clear, but they left the President in a position to deny any direct knowledge of the CIA's activities.

This loose relationship between the White House and the CIA, say witnesses, continued through the Eisenhower and Kennedy Administrations. But the President who pushed the CIA to go far beyond its mandate, say our sources, was Lyndon B. Johnson.

Johnson was convinced that the anti-war protesters who besieged him were stirred up by enemy agents and agitators. The people, he believed, would never turn against him of their own accord.

He instructed the CIA to find the evidence that would support his thesis. Thus began the compilation of dossiers and the massive spying on American citizens. For all their effort, however, the CIA was never able to show that the anti-war movement was supported by enemy agents.

Richard Nixon went a step further: He enlisted the CIA's help in his own domestic political problems.

In June, 1973, he ordered his majordomo, H.R. "Bob" Haldeman, to use the CIA's clandestine activities as an excuse to thwart the FBI's investigation of the Watergate scandal.

Haldeman called CIA Director Richard Helms and Deputy Director Lt. Gen. Vernon Walters to the White House and instructed them to tell acting FBI chief L. Patrick Gray that the bureau's investigation of campaign funds "laundered" in Mexico threatened to expose the CIA's secret operations there.

Walters passed the message to Gray that very day. The corruption of the CIA, guided and encouraged by four Presidents, was complete.

Tax Avoiders: Some American-based companies pay more taxes to foreign powers than they do to Uncle Sam.

That's just one of the startling findings of a new corporate tax study done by Congressman Charles Vanik, D-Ohio. He found that 142 American-based multinational companies paid a total of $14.4 billion to foreign governments during 1974. Yet they only forked over $10.3 billion to the U.S Treasury during the same period.

Eight giant corporations escaped American taxes entirely. And 18 firms paid under ten per cent of their income in taxes, which is far less than what the average wage earner must pay.

The average corporate tax bill came to 22 per cent of income -- less than half of the 48 per cent that corporations are supposed to pay.

All of this tax-avoiding was legal, of course. The tax loopholes written into the law allow the big corporations to escape without paying their fair share.

Diplomatic Pipeline: Secretary of State Henry Kissinger, say our sources, has reluctantly decided not to ask for a resumption of military aid to Chile. Such assistance was cut off by Congress last December. He wanted to make the request, but dropped the idea when he heard that Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., would vehemently oppose it.

— Kissinger, meanwhile, is curious over some recent remarks of former Defense Secretary Melvin Laird. The irrepressible Laird toured the Far East a few weeks ago and assured a Taiwan audience that America's relations with the Republic of China are as strong as ever. This is precisely the message that Kissinger, enamoured with Red China, did not want delivered. Then Laird stopped in Tokyo and asserted to a group of newsmen that it's about time Congress assumed a stronger role in foreign policy.

— There was apparently a frightening moment aboard the Kissinger plane during one of his recent shuttle flights between Tel Aviv and Cairo. The smell of something burning wafted through his aircraft. After a hasty search, the culprit was finally located. It seems someone was running documents through a copying machine aboard the plane when one of the papers got stuck and began to smolder.

Budget Fuss: Some White House budget experts are grumbling because their superiors have refused to allow the powerful Renegotiation Board more staff members The board reviews more than $40 billion each year in government contracts. With a few more staffers, they say, they could save the government millions. But the Budget Office has steadfastly refused to put any more auditors on the payroll.

County crops make top ten

Williamson County made an important contribution to Texas agriculture in 1974 by placing in the top ten counties in the production of sorghum hay and fodder.

According to field crop statistics recently compiled, county farmers produced 17,700 tons on 7,900 acres.

Hill County led the state in production with 37,100 tons. Total production for the state stood at 756,000 tons.

Complete figures on Texas field crops have been compiled in the "1974 Texas Field Crop Statistics." Copies may be obtained by writing the Texas Department of Agriculture, P. O. Box 12847, Austin, Texas 78711.

Reception for Dan Kubiak set November 11

Plans for the Nov. 11 appreciation reception honoring State Rep. Dan Kubiak are moving ahead, with former House Speaker Price Daniel Jr. being named honorary chairman for the event, organizers said Tuesday.

"We feel extremely fortunate to have the former speaker's assistance in this endeavor," said James Bartosh, one of the reception organizers. "He and Dan worked closely together when Dan was chairman of the House Education Committee, and Mr. Daniel continues to be one of Texas' outstanding young public figures."

Bartosh said other dignitaries, including present House Speaker Bill Clayton, were also being invited to the reception.

The reception will feature entertainment by Hutto organist Helmer Dahl, and refreshments will be served, Bartosh said. The reception will be held in the Taylor Knights of Columbus Hall at 7 p.m. Nov. 11. Tickets and other information are available by calling 512-446-2839 or 446-2887 in Rockdale.

"SOMETIMES THEY JUST WANT TO BE HELD" — Toni Gonzales finds that a little loving is all Jeff Goree and Patti Lindsey need.

JUST LYING AROUND — Paul Connor, Heather Stevens, and Odie Vanacek discover that people their own age are fun to be around.

CLEANING UP, BUT ALSO LEARNING — Harriet Rea instructs Margaret Loucher, Will Luedecke, and Mary Alice Eli that putting up puzzles is not all work.

First Methodist's Thursday School

For a day away from Mom

Originally conceived as a mother's day out, the Thursday School at First United Methodist Church has proved to be much more.

The idea for the school was formulated last Spring under the direction and study of Nancy Raper. The church had decided to work toward a day out for mothers with pre-school-age children, so Mrs. Raper began traveling around the state in search of information for this type of school.

But she came back with the idea of a school for the children rather than a day of babysitting for the mothers. "We are trying to teach what is applicable to each age group," said Mrs. Raper. Four year olds are learning numbers, and according to Mrs. Raper, it is surprising what the children have already learned.

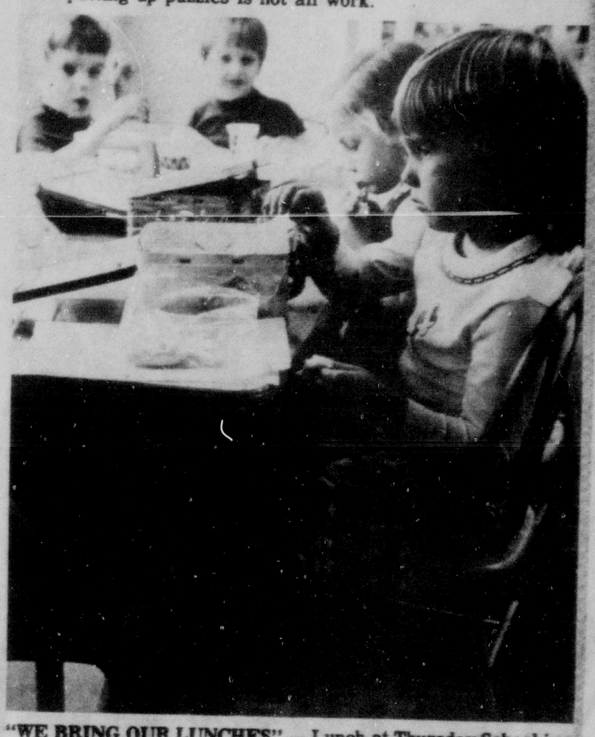
Tom Graves, minister of First United Methodist, maintains that Nancy has remarkable insight to what each of the children needs. "She has persuaded several parents to allow their children to go, and it's been wonderful for them. They have really opened up."

The one-day-a-week school handles up to 35 children from toddlers to four year olds. And according to Mrs. Raper, there are three spaces left in the four year old class, two in the three year old class and a waiting list for the other ages.

Planned along the public school year, the Thursday School will meet until May 20.

Teachers for the school include Toni Gonzales, toddler teacher; Margaret Persky and Harriet Rea, two year old teachers; Lynda Peters, three year old teacher; Jervis Davis, four year old teacher; Oline Behrens, floater; Joyce West, music teacher; and Nancy Raper, director.

And to top it off, the $3 per session fee really is cheaper than a babysitter.



"WE BRING OUR LUNCHES" — Lunch at Thursday School is a special delight. "We bring our lunches just like the big kids" said one five year old. Here Wesley West, Scott Murah, Sharon Yeary, and Melissa McCoy discover just what mother packed.

SHARING — Nancy Raper, head of Thursday School shows Jimmy Horner that sharing his tricycle with Odie Vanacek is part of life.

HELPING HANDS HELP LEARN Linda Peters helps Steve Eidt paste feet on his own creation. Thursday School was originally designed for a mothers day out, but experienced teachers have helped make the program both educational and fun for the children.

Brownie Troop camps in Vasquez backyard

Brownie Troop 266 spent their first night of camping in the backyard camp at the home of Mrs. Danny Vasquez Friday night, Oct. 17.

Tents were set up and cooking was done in an open fireplace using wood as fuel. Even a porta-potty was set up and for all practical purposes the troop was in a "wilderness" setting.

After a supper of sloppy joes and peach cobbler cooked on the fire by the girls, ghost stories were told. Highlighting the night was a walk down the road and through a dry ravine with the aid of flashlights.

Even though the night was chilly, the girls managed to stay warm inside their tents with wall-to-wall sleeping bags and arm-to-arm buddies.

A breakfast of bacon, pancakes and orange juice was prepared at dawn. The girls were up early to wach the sun rise.

Those taking part in the campout were Ranea Hyatt, Molly Burnette, Cheryl Dedeck, Julie Burson, Vivian Vasquez, Tracy Raby, Emily Ramos, Amanda Maldrona, Margo Andrews, Kim Ischy, Kim Abbey, Rachel Bracamontez, Lisa Bruce and Patricia Rothhammer.

Jan Vickers was present for supper and the games, but could not spend the night because of a cold.

Mrs. Judy Dedeck helped with the activities of the night along with the regular troop leaders, Mrs. Danny Vasquez and Mrs. Charles Burson.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bracamontez, Dan Vasquez and Danny Vasquez Jr. helped with the setting up of tents.

The troop is planning another campout farther from home, possibly at Camp Texlake Girl Scout Camp in the spring.

Leander PTA carnival scheduled November 1

Many of the "extra necessities" for the Leander Schools over the past years have been provided with funds from the PTA. In the past, money earned by the PTA volunteers has purchased the concession stand, press box, sidewalks, water fountains, window blinds, library books and art supplies.

In the past few years, funds have gone for a record player, two typewriters, one academic and one vocational scholarship. Most recently the money earned by the Leander Elementary PTA has bought teaching aids, resource kits, flags, cassettes, and clocks for the classrooms.

The main money-raising project has become a well-known annual event in the Leander School District. This year over 100 volunteers are working in various capacities to make this Halloween Carnival a very successful project.

Mrs. Margaret Gilmore, PTA Carnival chairman, is in charge of the arrangements. There is a great deal of work and cooperation involved and youngsters become increasingly excited as time for the Carnival nears.

The Leander Elementary PTA Halloween Carnival is Saturday, November 1, from 5 p.m. to 9 p.m. in the courtyard of the Leander Elementary School, and plans are for a new and different event. Many businesses have been generous with donations of merchandise and food.

The Spaghetti Supper will be served from 5 to 7 p.m. and all utensils and almost all the food has been donated. The seventh graders are handling advance ticket sales; prices are $1.50 for adults and $1.25 for children through age 12.

The seventh grade students are competing to sell as many tickets as possible because the student who sells the most tickets will win a portable electronic calculator. The winner will be announced during the carnival.

Also to be given away during the Carnival will be handmade doll furniture, electric drill, oriental rug, handmade afghan, electric clock, and various other prizes, all of which have been donated.

LOOKING FOR SPEEDERS — City police Sergeant Robert Hernandez uses his radar gun on the fast ball of Steve Wendtland, one of the new pitchers for the Southwestern University Pirates baseball team. Sgt. Hernandez found a number of speeders with clockings of 75-85 miles per hour not uncommon, but the only kind of tickets he'll be writing will be those to see the Bucs play next spring. "This has been a great help to us in knowing just what our pitchers can do," said Coach Jim Mallon, "and the good help from our police department is just an example of the cooperative spirit that exists here in Georgetown."

Local Catholic Church gets new pastor

A Wisconsin native who decided in 1972 to come to Texas to see how Texas Catholics were has been appointed pastor of St. Helen's Catholic Church.

Rev. Albert Palermo, a native of Racine, Wis., assumed his new duties in Georgetown last week after serving with a church at Rockne in Bastrop County for over two years.

Father Palermo, a Green Bay Packer fan, is a graduate of the University of Wisconsin who worked as a chemical engineer in Chicago before deciding to enter the ministry. He attended St. Francis Seminary in Milwaukee and was ordained in 1963.

Before entering the seminary, Father Palermo was sent to Austin on a research project for a year and became interested in Texas. After serving as a priest in the Diocese of Milwaukee for 10 years he was able to transfer to the Lone Star State.

NEW PASTOR — Rev. Albert Palermo has assumed duties as pastor of St. Helen's Catholic Church in Georgetown.

His first stop was in Taylor at St. Mary's for two months. He then transferred to St. Mary's in Temple for a year before moving to tiny Rockne, named after the Notre Dame football coach, Knute Rockne.

The 4-H officers were installed October 20 at the regular 4-H meeting. Each project group met briefly. The meeting ended with the members playing name games. The 4-Hers said thanks for bringing the papers to the 4-H paper drive.

Slover lectures set for SU

DR. STANLEY M. HAUERWAS

Southwestern University will present Dr. Stanley M. Hauerwas as Slover Lecturer at the Faculty Lounge in the Student Union on Wednesday and Thursday.

Dr. Hauerwas will deliver two Slover lectures on the topic, "A Tale of Two Stories: On Being a Christian and a Texan."

At 7:30 p.m. Wednesday Dr. Hauerwas will speak on "Stories and Theology." Thursday he will address the subject "Stories and the Moral Life" at 6:30 p.m.

On Friday the Southwestern Alumni Association will award Dr. Hauerwas its Citation of Merit.

Dr. Hauerwas is Associate Professor of Theology at the University of Notre Dame.

He is also an alumnus of Southwestern University in the class of 1972.

He holds the B.D. cum laude from Yale Divinity School and the M.A., M. Phil., and Ph.D. in the field of Christian ethics from the Yale Graduate School. During his graduate work at Yale he was the recipient of the Tew Prize and the Hooker Prize, the latter being awarded to the top three graduates.

He was awarded a Yale Divinity Fellowship and a Rockefeller Doctoral Fellowship.

Prior to his appointment to the faculty of the University of Notre Dame in 1970, he taught at Augustana College in Rock Island, Illinois.

In 1973 he was a senior research fellow at the Kennedy Center for Bioethics at Georgetown University; since 1973 he has been the Director of Graduate Studies at the University of Notre Dame.

Dr. Hauerwas is an ethicist who has published numerous articles and books in a wide area of interest including studies of the problems of abortion, euthanasia, the retarded, population, pollution, and morality.

He is a member of the American Society of Christian Ethics, the Academy of Religions, and the Society for Religion in Higher Education.

He serves on the Editorial Board for the American Society of Christian Ethics, is Associate Editor of the Encyclopedia of Bioethics, and is Chairman of the Ethics Section of the American Society of Religion.

Dr. Hauerwas is married to the former Elizabeth Anne Harley, an alumna of Southwestern University, also in the class of 1962. They are the parents of one son, Adam.

The Citation of Merit award is given to graduates who have distinguished themselves in their chosen field of work.

The Slover Lectures are made possible by a gift from the late Reverend George S. Slover.

Major Dunlop earns medal for meritorious service

Outstanding duty performance at Andersen AFB, Guam, has earned the Meritorious Service Medal for Major Darrell R. Dunlop, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. I. Dunlop of Andice.

Major Dunlop was cited for his professional skill, knowledge and leadership as chief of the emergency war order branch of the 43rd Strategic Wing.

He was honored in ceremonies at Beale AFB, Calif., where he now serves as a KC-135 Stratotanker pilot with a unit of the Strategic Air Command.

The major is aeronautically rated as a command pilot and is a veteran of the Vietnam War.

A 1953 graduate of Florence High School, he received an A. S. degree in 1955 from Tarleton State College in Stephenville. He earned his B. S. degree in 1957 at Southwest Texas State University where he was commissioned through the Air Force Reserve Officers Training Corps program.

His wife, Ruth, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Parsons of Florence.

Miranda rites in Georgetown

Leonardo B. Miranda Sr., 1012 Timber Street, Georgetown, died Tuesday, October 21, 1975 in Holy Cross Hospital, Austin. He was 61.

Mr. Miranda was born August 8, 1914 in Burnet, son of Apolimar and Katherine (Beltran) Miranda. He married the former Angelita Ramirez November 11, 1944 in Georgetown, and to them were born five children. He was a member of Woodmen of the World and St. Helen's Catholic Church, Georgetown.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Angelita Miranda of Georgetown; two sons, Antonio Miranda and Leonardo Miranda Jr. of Georgetown; three daughters, Miss Mary Miranda and Mrs. Lois Ramos of Georgetown, and Mrs. Kathy Pina of Leander; his mother, Mrs. Katherine B. Miranda, Georgetown.

Also surviving are four brothers, Domingo Miranda, Florence; John Miranda, Georgetown; Vicente Miranda and Julio Miranda, Houston.

Four sisters survive: Mrs. Carmen Dela Cruz, Mrs. Domingo Frias and Mrs. Eligio Dela Cruz, all of Georgetown, and Mrs. Cleto Ybarra, Temple; also three grandchildren.

Funeral services were held at 2 p.m. Thursday, October 23, 1975 at St. Helen's Catholic Church, Father Alfred Palermo officiating.

Pallbearers included Richard Zavala, Johnny Zavala, Marcos Ramos, Tom Lozano, Romulo Lozano and Ray Braun.

Burial was in Georgetown Memorial Cemetery.

Cub Pack 153 meets

Cub Scout Pack 153 will hold its first pack meeting of the year at Woodmen of the World Lodge at 7 p.m. Tuesday, October 28. All boys ages 8 to 10 interested in joining Cub Scouts should plan to attend with their parents. Boys previously in Pack 153 and not over 10 years old should also plan to attend.

Your United Way dollar can buy clothing for a fire victim through the Red Cross.

Mrs. Keith, retired teacher, services here

Mrs. Lenita Fay Keith, 1602 East 18th Street, Georgetown, died Wednesday, October 22, 1975 at the Georgetown hospital. She was 74.

Mrs. Keith was born January 22, 1901 in Weatherford, Texas, daughter of Lee and Nita (Campbell) Walker. She married E. W. Keith August 28, 1923 and came to Georgetown in 1927. She taught school for 26 years.

Survivors include her husband, E. W. Keith of Georgetown; a daughter, Elaine (Mrs. Gilbreth D.) Adams of Houston; two brothers, Campbell Walker of Weatherford, and Don Walker of Oakland, Cal.; and two granddaughters, Kimberly Anne Adams and Leslie Sheryl Adams, of Houston.

Funeral services were held Friday, October 24 at 2 p. m. at Davis Funeral Home, with Rev. Al Cummins of First Baptist Church officiating.

Mrs. Lois Jean Forswall was organist and solist Wallace Evans provided the hymn "Abide With Me."

Pallbearers included W. P. Hoffman, Joe Crawford, Grady Anderson, Marvin Henderson, Ferd Tonn, Dr. H. L. Patterson and Dr. D. N. Benold.

Honorary palibearers were members of the Ray Purl Bible Class of First Baptist Church.

Burial was in Capital Memorial Gardens.

Kubiak to talk on new charter

A slide presentation detailing the proposed Constitution to be voted on next November 4 will be shown in two Williamson County towns by State Rep. Dan Kubiak.

Kubiak said the slides will give area residents the chance to see an objective explanation of the new Constitution before deciding whether to support or oppose it at the polls.

"I urge everyone in the district to turn out and see the film in order to be better informed about the new Constitution," Kubiak said. "I will be at each presentation to answer questions and talk to constituents about the Constitution."

On October 30, the show will be presented twice, in Granger's High School Auditorium at 7 p.m. and in the Taylor National Guard Armory at 8 p.m.

Refugee locator established by local Red Cross

A refugee locator unit has been established at the American National Red Cross Headquarters, Washington, to assist in the reunification and location of Southeast Asian refugees. The unit is processing some 200 messages a day.

Any refugees in the area wishing to locate their family members should contact the local Red Cross, 478-1601, (Austin) or 863-2624 (Georgetown)) for assistance. The Red Cross will need the family member's full name, birthdate, sex, former occupation and address and any other identifying information.

The Red Cross is authorized by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, to assist refugees in obtaining basic maintenance needs. The Red Cross has been able to obtain help for refugees through the Salvation Army, Seventh Day Adventist Church, and many generous individuals and groups which is helping the refugees establish a new home.

The mailing address for the Red Cross in Austin is PO Box 1784, Austin, Texas 78767.

CAPCO Executive Committee approves area grant requests

Three agencies in Williamson County got a step closer to expansion of facilities and services Tuesday when the Executive Committee of the Capital Area Planning Council (CAPCO) approved their applications for state and federal funds totalling $66,227.

The 17-member Executive Committee unanimously endorsed requests from the City of Florence, the Williamson County Sheriff's Office, and Capital Area Human Services, Inc. (CASH), which serves the local community action agency.

Georgetown businessman Harry Gold is vice-chairman of the Executive Committee and County Judge C. L. Chance is also a member.

Florence's application to finance expansion of its sewer system will now go on to the federal Environmental Protection Agency (EPA).

The application from the Sheriff's Office to fund a centralized 24-hour dispatch system will be forwarded to the Criminal Justice Division of the Governor's Office.

CASH's request for administrative funds goes to the Texas Department of Community Affairs.

CAPCO acts as a go-between for those federal and state agencies and others, reviewing grant applications to insure they meet federal, state, and regional requirements.

If the EPA, CDJ, and TDCA approve the applications and money is available, the applicants will be entitled to it.

—0—

Florence applied to the EPA for $15,000 to conduct a study of how its sanitary sewer system might be upgraded and expanded.

The 20-year-old system was designed to serve a population of about 850, which has now grown to over 1,000.

The study would serve as the first step toward eventual construction of an improved $561,558 system.

Noting that the current system is overloaded during periods of heavy rainfall, County Commissioner Wesley Foust submitted testimony that, "Florence needs immediate assistance."

CAPCO's Government Applications Review Committee (GARC) reported to the Executive Committee, "This project is in accord with and implementive of the CAPCO Regional Water and Sewer Plan.

The proximity of the City of Florence to the Killeen-Fort Hood Complex and the proposed reservoirs on the San Gabriel River in Williamson County place the community in the potential path of sizable growth.

Plans should include capacity for expansion to meet projected 1995 needs."

The EPA funds, if granted, will be channeled to Florence through the Texas Water Quality Board (TWQB).

Florence would supply $5000 for the study.

Sheriff August Bosshard said he was quite pleased by the Executive Committee's approval of the county's application for $23,212 to develop a 24-hour dispatching system in the courhouse.

"What we don't have right now, and what we need, is a full-time dispatcher," said Bosshard.

He added, "We're not trying to take anything away from any city police department. All I want is what the cities have, a full-time dispatch system."

Bosshard said he hopes to have a supervisor for the dispatch system named by the November 10 County Commissioners' meeting.

The county would have to provide $6840 to add to $23,212 from the Criminal Justice Division of the Governor's Office in order to fund the system.

The dispatch office would be operated by two dispatchers and a supervisor working in a central area with radio, computers to retrieve crime information, and perhaps a teletype, Bosshard explained.

Bosshard also said all county vehicles would have access to the service. This would include the vehicles operated by constables, county commissioners, and the county ambulance service.

An earlier application for the same funding was returned to CAPCO's Criminal Justice Systems Committee because it incorrectly stated that there were no 24-hour dispatching systems in Williamson County.

Georgetown, Taylor, and Granger all have such systems.

Bosshard said the error was made by CAPCO, not by the Sheriff's Office. It was corrected before the application was again reviewed Tuesday.

—0—

Also approved was an application to the Texas Department of Community Affairs for $28,015 to continue operation of Capital Area Human Services, Inc.

CASH is a consortium of community action agencies, including Williamson-Burnet Opportunities, Inc., which has an office in Georgetown.

Flogene Ebeling, assistant director of the agency, said, "The money awarded by the Department of Community Affairs is for administration of CASH. We will get services as a result of the grant, and we may get some dollars, but no dollar amount has been specified yet."

"This grant," she continued, "will keep CASH operating for the next 12 months, and expands what may be available to us."

CASH coordinates the efforts of the community action agencies in Williamson, Hays, and Burnet counties, to obtain funds for delivery of human services including for housing, health, education, and employment programs.

NEW OWNERS, NEW NAME — Located at 212 West Eighth Street is the Sandwich Grove, owned and operated by Mrs. Rea Handzlik. She is assisted by two of her foster children, Cathy and Tammie, and her husband, Steve. Sandwich Grove is open 8 a. m. until midnight Monday through Saturday.

Sandwich Grove open for business

The Sandwich Grove, located at 212 West Eighth Street, was opened two weeks ago by Mrs. Rea Handzlik.

Formerly the Yellow Submarine, Sandwich Grove is open from 8 a. m. until midnight, Monday through Saturday, serving breakfast, a variety of sandwiches, soups, chili, desserts and drinks.

Mrs. Handzlik is assisted by her husband, Steve, and Mrs. Bonnie Moore and six of her daughters. The Handzliks, foster parents for 23 years, have nine foster children.

They moved to Texas in August from Grand Rapids, Michigan. At present they are living in Austin, where their children are enrolled in school. They plan to move to Georgetown as soon as their new residence is remodeled.

"I fix things the way I like to eat them and I don't skimp on anything," Mrs. Hanzlik said.

"Some people are somewhat leery when you tell them you sell a hamburger for 30 cents, but it is 3 ounces of good meat on a 4-inch bun," she continued.

Other menu items are eggs, hot cakes, ham, sausage or bacon for breakfast, hamburgers, cheeseburgers, bacon-lettuce-tomato sandwiches, barbecue beef or pork sandwiches, cottage cheese salad, chef's salad, tossed salad and drinks, plus many other items, too numerous to name.

FOOTBALL CONTEST
PICK THE WINNERS AND WIN A PRIZE

Here's How You Play:

HERE WE GO AGAIN! It's football time -- and time for the annual County SUN Football Contest. If you're a Saturday morning armchair quarterback, you can enter this fun Contest and check up on yourself! Might even win a little money at it or a free theater ticket.

Here's a game to test your skill -- it's a game that the whole family can enjoy. Spread this page out on the kitchen table. Let everybody play. There'll be a new contest each week until about the middle of November.
So ready, get set, GO!

- Win $10, $5, or $3 for first, second or third respectively.
- Next five winners may pick up a free ticket to the Palace Theater!
- Pick up all prizes and theater tickets at The SUN.
- The only notification of the winners will be in the following week's issue.
- See this week's football games on this page.
- In each game, check the team you think will win. (You do NOT need to indicate score).
- Unless all games are marked, your entry will be automatically disqualified.
- Then to eliminate as nearly as possible any ties in this fun-test, every entry must have the score marked on "The Tie Breaker" game listed at right.
- Only one entry per person will be qualified, but as many from a family may enter as wish to do so -- except employees and families of the Williamson County SUN.
- You may enter the fun-test on this page. Or you may copy the games on another sheet of paper, indicating your pick in each game.
- All entries must be brought to The SUN by 5:00 p.m. Friday or mailed with a postmark not later than 7:00 p.m. Friday of each week. The SUN will grade all entries, and The SUN's decision will be Final and incontestable.
- Have FUN! And patronize the businesses whc make this fun-test possible.

Games This Week

Put an 'X' in the parenthesis in front of the team which you think will win that game.

Liberty Hill NEWS

BY HOWARD N. WILSON

The next big event in our community that we are aware of will be Liberty Hill Market Day Saturday, November 1. Market Day promises to be even bigger and better than it has been before; some additional booths have been constructed to accommodate the increasing demand. At this time we are not aware of whether spaces are still available, but Ellis Posey is the man to contact for any information about Market Day, including the availability of space. Market Day is very definitely an event that is having a great impact upon our community and many surrounding communities. It is really good to see so many people in town at one time and see that they are obviously enjoying themselves — there is just nothing else like good friends and the fellowship that they enjoy when they get together!

Classes in the Liberty Hill schools will be dismissed at the regular time Thursday afternoon, October 30, and there will be no classes Friday, October 31. All students will get a holiday so the teachers will be able to attend the TSTA Convention in Austin.

The schedule for the Liberty Hill boys' and girls' varsity and junior varsity basketball teams has been released. The first game for the boys' and girls' varsity teams will be held on the home hardwood with Lometa at 7 p. m. Friday, November 14. The first game for the Junior High School teams will be here at home with Lago Vista at 6:30 p. m. November 20.

Our basketball teams will be competing in a regular schedule as a member of District 56-B for the first time this year, and we are sure that Coach Melvina Floyd and Coach Daryl Moffitt and all of their players will deeply appreciate your support. Be sure to attend the games whenever you can; we are confident that you will find that basketball is a fast-moving and enjoyable game that is second only to football.

The menu in the Liberty Hill school cafeteria for the week of October 27 through October 30, will be as follows: Monday — Salisbury steak, potatoes with gravy, peas, peach cobbler, and milk; Tuesday — Barbecue sausage, mixed vegetables, French fries, fruit and milk; Wednesday — Stew, cornbread, salad, apple cobbler, and milk; Thursday — Surf cake patties, French fries, slaw, cookies and milk.

The Liberty Hill Panther Band is sponsoring a Bargain Booth at the PTA Halloween Carnival that will be held at the school on October 31. Handmade items, pot plants, canned goods, paper back books, comic books, and jewelry are being solicited by the PTA to be sold in their booth. Anyone who is interested in donating any of these items to help the band is urged to bring them by the school by October 30, or contact Rhane Hoppe.

A gallon jar of pecans will be on display, and that will be the prize for whoever comes the closest in guessing the number of pecans in the jar. Support the Band and support the School — come to the carnival!

—0—

The Liberty Hill Garden Club will meet at 10 a. m. Wednesday, November 12, in the Fellowship Hall of the Rock Church of Christ. The subject for the meeting will be "Free and Easy with Dried Material;" the Speaker will be Alice Coughfield, who is a National Judge from Abilene.

All members are urged to attend this enlightening meeting and to bring a friend; Mrs. James Cluck, the publicity chairwoman, has issued this information in hopes that there will be one hundred percent of the members in attendance along with their friends!

—0—

November 1, starts the new street light year for many of you, while some of the others start on January 1, 1976. Please be reminded that these lights must have your full support so our town will continue to be well lighted. It is a recognized fact that lights prevent crime and promote safety, so please do your part!

Revised constitution
Propositions 6-7-8 discussed

In previous issues of the Sunday Sun we published arguments for and against the first five of the eight propositions changing and updating the Texas Constitution. In today's paper, the same treatment goes to the last three propositions.

This issue will confront Texas voters November 4 and many say it will yield the most important vote Texans will cast in a long time.

THE SUN HAS NOT taken a position on any of the propositions but will do so before the election.

PROPOSITION NO. 6 provides a new Article IX, Local Government, which authorizes the powers of local government. Under this amendment local government would remain basically the same with the exception that County Commissioners' Courts would be granted ordinance-making powers.

Proponents argue that: counties should have the authority to regulate unincorporated areas within their boundaries to insure orderly planning and development, protect the environment and adapt to the immediate needs of the people without the necessity of going to the Legislature each time for special authorization to do those things which a governing body should have the power to do on its own.

Opponents of the proposal argue that: The granting of such legislative authority to County Commissioners' Courts would give rise to a multiplicity of regulations and undertaking of projects and programs in undeveloped, unincorporated areas which are appropriate only to an urban-developed area; and the Commissioners' Courts have easy access to the Legislature so that it can be granted authority to do specific things.

The proposal would also permit cities of more than 1500 population to create their own home-rule government with an autonomous city charter giving towns of 1500 or more the same rights and powers that are needed by the major metropolitan communities. The present population limitation on home-rule cities is 5000 or more.

Proponents argue that this is necessary to meet the needs of the smaller communities of the state in establishing programs necessary to serve their population needs. Opponents of the proposal claim that it would be granting an unnecessarily broad, autonomous power to small communities which can generally provide for the limited needs of its citizens under the general law provisions of the state statutes.

There is also a provision for intergovernmental cooperation and consolidation of offices and transfer of functions between local political subdivisions. Proponents claim that this would result in a substantial reduction in costs and duplication of services of local governments. Opponents claim that this same consolidation and cooperation is presently authorized by the Constitution and has not accomplished the desired results.

PROPOSITION NO. 7 provides a new Article X, General Provisions, which is basically a housekeeping article. It includes: the homestead provisions; separate or community property; protection of personal property from forced sale; protection of wages from garnishment; limitations upon banking corporations; provisions for the regulation of alcoholic beverages; and provisions for the regulation of medical practitioners.

It prohibits lotteries and gift enterprises; regulates interest and lending; provides for the various retirement systems of public employees, and protecting the environment, conserving natural resources and public property as well as wildlife resources.

Proponents of the new Constitution say that this amendment is necessary to take care of those constitutional protections and prohibitions that exist in the present Constitution, are desirable, and do not particularly fit under any of the other articles.

Opponents contend that: while this does continue some desirable protections of the existing Constitution, it adds one very undesirable aspect in the language which seeks to protect the environment. This language could create a super land title in the state which would give legislators the authority to exercise all sorts of controls over the use of the property; that it would conceivably give rise to land use enforcement, statewide zoning and building codes and remove a portion of the landowners title from him and vest it in the state; that this is the fixing of title to all property in the state which could be held temporarily and at the will of the state by an individual citizen.

PROPOSITION NO 8. provides a new Article XI, Method of Amending the Constitution of the State. It maintains the same basis for submission of amendments as was utilized in submitting these eight amendments; that is, submission by an affirmative vote of two-thirds of the membership of both houses of the Legislature and adoption by a simple majority of the people voting in an election called for that purpose.

It does add a provision that a question of a constitutional convention be submitted by the Legislature at least once each thirty years. Proponents argue that this added provision is necessary so that the people will not have to be governed by a document that is 100 years old without ever having had an opportunity to totally revise it. Opponents of the provision contend that the current Constitution can adapt itself to all situations including that of calling a constitutional convention as it did in 1973; that there is no need to be told by the Constitution how often the people have to revise it.

Tennis team ends tourney

The varsity men's tennis team at Southwestern University completed the second of its singles tournaments among themselves with the following tentative ranking: David McNitzky, Jay Elder, Cliff Leonard, Greg Gordon, Spencer Cluff, Raymond Khouw, Paul Irwin, Philip Sewell, Joel Youngblood, Bill Pitts, and James Cohagan.

In the first round, Irwin beat Pitts 6-1, 6-1; Cluff beat Cohagan 6-4, 6-1; and Sewell beat Youngblood 6-4, 1-6, 7-5.

Second round action found Leonard topping Irwin 6-3, 6-2; Elder defeating Khouw 6-2, 3-6, 6-3;.

In the first round consolation, Youngblood topped Cohagan 6-2, 6-1, putting Cohagan in eleventh place.

Youngblood then gained ninth place and Pitts tenth with a 4-6, 6-1, 6-1 victory by the former. Sewell defaulted to Irwin for eighth and seventh places respectively. Cluff gained fifth place and Khouw sixth with a default.

Leonard defeated Gordon 6-7, 6-2, 7-6 for third and fourth places respectively.

McNitzky then won the tournament and put Elder in second place with a 6-4, 6-7, 7-5 victory.

Earlier in the semis Elder defeated Leonard 6-2, 6-0 and McNitzky edged Gordon 6-7, 6-0, 6-1.

In second round consolation, Khouw beat Irwin 6-2, 6-2 and Cluff beat Sewell 6-2, 6-1.

These eleven players began a doubles tournament among themselves Oct. 15 with Elder and Gordon seeded first and McNitzky and Khouw seeded second.

Ken Sheppard engagements for November

November engagements for Ken Sheppard, instructor in music education and choral music in the School of Fine Arts at South-western University, include guest conductor for high school choirs and orchestra in Norman, Okla., on Nov. 3-4; clinician for junior high choir at the First Methodist Church in Richardson on Nov. 8-0; and judge for Texas Music Education Association area auditions in Seguin on Nov. 15.

Sheppard has also been selected by Texas Education Agency to serve on a committee to develop curriculum guide for secondary vocal music education.

A graduate of Hardin-Simmons University with a bachelor of music degree and Texas Tech University with a master of music education degree with voice and music education as areas of concentration, Sheppard has had additional private study with Dr. B. R. Henson of the University of Oklahoma.

Sheppard has served as guest-clinician-conductor in numerous choral festivals in Texas, Oklahoma, and New Mexico, as guest lecturer on choral techniques, and has done extensive choral and solo judging. Memberships for Sheppard include Phi Kappa Phi, Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia, Texas Choral Directors Association, Texas Music Educators Association, American Choral Directors Association, National Association of Teachers of Singing.

Bilingual class helps students learn to drive

Classes in English and Spanish will be offered November 4-6 at the Woodmen of the World Hall, North College Street in Georgetown, to prepare drivers to pass the written exam for a Texas driver's license.

The three-day course will be offered free of charge. All that is needed is proof of birth date, such as birth certificate, baptismal certificate or school record.

People of all ages are welcome, but anyone wishing to take the test must be 18 years or older. The test will be given Friday, Nov. 7 at the Georgetown Driver's License Office.

Those wishing to register should leave their name at the driver's license office, 102 W. Eighth Street, 863-5816, or with Susan Bates, 1805½ Holly, 863-6485. Transportation will be provided to the class for those who need it.

Children are also welcome to stay while the class is in session. There will be toys at the office for them to play with.

Heart Association plans Cyclethon next Saturday

A Cyclethon will be held next Saturday in Georgetown to benefit the American Heart Association. It will be sponsored by the association's West Williamson County Division.

Registration will start at 8 a. m. at the Community Center in San Gabriel Park. A measured route will take the cyclists along Interstate 35 east access road to the Nickerson Farms restaurant and back to the park on the west access road. It is approximately nine miles.

Students in the fifth to twelfth grades may participate in the event. They should pick up an entry form at their school and enlist sponsors — friends and relatives — who will contribute a specific amount per mile achieved.

A second prize worth $25 includes a $10 gift certificate from Gellman's Department Store and $15 cash donated by TG & Y, Safeway and Johnson's Body Shop. Third prize is a $10 gift certificate from Gold's Department Store.

Registration forms may also be obtained by calling Mrs. Sansom at 863-6566 or at 863-3538 after 5 p. m.

Funds raised during the Cyclethon will support local and national programs of heart research, education and community services, Diane Sansom, chairman of the event said.

Cyclists who bring in the most money during the event will be awarded prizes donated by local businesses. First prize is a $50 Savings Bond donated by Georgetown Savings and Loan and Citizens State Bank.

Leander officials will ask $1.176 million bond for schools

The third time seemed to be the charm Thursday night for the Leander school trustees, who set a $1.176 million bond election for December 13 after discarding two previous proposals.

If passed, the bond would fund 12 categories of repair, major construction, and additions, as well as the purchase of 50 acres of land.

Two of the school board members also expressed relief after the regular session that a lawsuit against the board by angry taxpayers met its end Wednesday morning in Judge Kirby Vance's 26th District Court at Georgetown.

THE BOARD DEBATED at some length the recommendation of its Building Committee to propose a $4.64 million bond and defeated a motion to ask for $4.666 million before making its final decision.

Trustee David Kirkland made the motion to call a $4.666 million election, commenting, "I can't honestly vote for land appropriations until we get the necessary facilities. This proposal (for $1.176 million) doesn't include what we will need tomorrow, and we're going to have to build for tomorrow's capacity.

"Some day," Kirkland added, "you're going to have to look at kids pouring out the windows."

Kirkland referred to the board's apparent decision not to include $3.49 million in the bond proposal to fund a second high school for Leander.

Board president James H. Moore earlier had recommended that only the lower figure be proposed to the voters in order to promote the bond issue's chances of passing.

Trustee Bob Luce moved to amend Kirkland's motion, asking that the bond ballot reflect two propositions.

One proposition would have been for $1.176 million to finance all proposals except that for the new high school. The second proposition would have included the cost of that facility.

Luce's motion to amend died for lack of a second, and the motion for a $4.666 million bond election was put up for a roll call vote of the board.

Only Kirkland and trustee Dr. Loyd Hampton supported the motion, which failed 5-2.

Immediately afterward, a motion to call a $1.176 million election passed, but by only one vote.

Trustees Moore, Hampton, Luce, and Gerald Estepp supported the measure. Trustees Betty Buford, Benton Beard, and Kirkland voted against it.

Beard commented in voting "no" that, "I'm going to be with the majority when the vote comes."

Mrs. Buford asked that her reasons for opposing the election be recorded. She said, "I don't think the district can benefit from calling a bond election at this time. Maybe in the middle of January it might pass, but I don't think it will right now."

She apparently referred to voter unrest over higher Leander school taxes which led to the threat of one lawsuit against the board during the summer, and the actual filing of October 14.

In the wake of that disturbance, the trustees cancelled a $5.6 million bond election they had set for September 20.

Election boxes for the December 13 election were designated at the school administration building, the Faubion Elementary school, the West Rural Neighborhood Center, the Volente Fire Hall, and the Nameless school.

Voters will be asked to approve a bond for the following projects:

- Installation of a concrete curb and gutter along West Street, $10,000.
- Construction of a sanitary sewer system and waste water treatment plant, $125,000.
- Major repairs to the Leander Elementary school, $33,000.
- Acquisition of land for a third elementary school, $45,000.
- Addition of six permanent classrooms at Faubion Elementary, $86,000.
- Addition of four one-room temporary buildings at Leander Elementary, to be connected with covered walkways, $38,000.

- Addition of two asphalt tennis courts, $10,000.
- Construction of a new football stadium with aluminum seats and an all-weather track, $350,000.
- Construction of a new athletic field house, $180,000.
- Construction of a new vehicle maintenance facility, $60,000.
- Purchase of approximately 50 acres for land for construction of the stadium, field house, and maintenance facility, and eventually, a new high school, $75,000.

Plus 10% allowance for inflation and escalating prices.

A temporary restraining order against the Leander school board which was granted on behalf of the Leander Taxpayers League was dissolved Wednesday morning by District Judge Kirby Vance in Georgetown.

Judge Vance also denied the League's request for a temporary injunction.

Austin attorney Robert Carr had filed a suit against the trustees on October 14, alleging inequities in property appraisals in the school district.

Carr acted for the Taxpayers League in filing the suit.

Vance issued a temporary order restraining the district from mailing tax notices until a hearing scheduled for Friday morning.

But the school board asked for a hearing to dissolve the restraining order and deny an injunction.

That hearing was held Wednesday morning, with the school board and administrative officers entering evidence that the notices had already been mailed and the issue was moot.

The restraining order was then dissolved.

Thursday night trustee Luce said he was glad the suit was finished, adding, "We had those appraisals right. It (the suit) never had a chance."

Mrs. Buford said she also was relieved, but noted that bitter taxpayers would probably work hard to defeat the bond proposal.

will undertake those activities, or even all of them. Other projects may still be nominated.

The Advisory Council will make its recommendation for use of Community Development funds after the public hearings are completed. The Council will take the Commission's recommendations into its deliberations and make a decision on which projects to program.

At the July meeting, only chairman Charles A. Forbes was present to represent the Citizens Advisory Commission.

No school Friday for convention

Georgetown public schools will be dismissed Oct. 31 to allow local educators to attend the annual fall convention of District XIII, Texas State Teachers Association (TSTA) in Austin.

The event is scheduled for Oct. 30-31 and will be held at the Austin Municipal Auditium. Activities will include a general session for all educators in the 14-county district, section meetings for those in various subject matter areas and interest, and a meeting of the District XIII House of Delegates.

This district governing body is composed of elected representatives (one for each 25 members) from each local association in the district.

Elected delegates from the Georgetown unit will be Scherry Chapman, Evelyn Robinson, Pat Adkins, David Cardona, Carolyn Sydow, president of the local TSTA, and Donna Gage. Mrs. James Quinn is alternate delegate.

The District XIII House of Delegates will meet at 4:30 p.m., October 30, at the Terrace Convention Center.

The opening general sessions begins at 9 a.m. Oct. 31 at Municipal Auditorium. Harry Wong of Redwood City, Calif., is the featured speaker. He will discuss "Motivating the Educationally Uninvolved." Larry Yawn of Austin, state president of TSTA, will also speak at the general session.

Section meetings for those in special fields such as English, math and school administration will be held at noon and in the afternoon Oct. 31.

Church to host African priests

Two African priests, Father John Kangikwa of Sudan and Father Charles Mwaigoga of Uganda and Tanzania, will celebrate mass at Grace Episcopal Church on Sunday, October 26 at 6 p.m.
